

Building Dept. Understaffing Acute In Schaumburg

by MARILYN HEISER

The staffing in Schaumburg's building department falls far behind that of the other Northwest suburbs, when the amount of construction going on in the village is considered.

An investigation of the building departments in 10 Northwest suburbs indicated that understaffing is a common problem, but is particularly acute in Schaumburg. "We have thousands of inspections coming due at once," Hugh Cahill, Schaumburg building commissioner, said. He added that inspectors rarely have time to spot check construction jobs unannounced.

Though large strides in increasing its building staff have been made in 1970

Schaumburg only had one building inspector and a director of public works, Cahill added.

BELL SAVINGS AND Loan Association building reports show $67.6 million dollars of construction went on in the village in 1970. Since the fall of 1970, Schaumburg has added six people to inspect and review plans.

But the department size has not kept pace with the enormous amount of building going on.

In comparison to the other villages, Hoffman Estates comes out looking fairly adequately staffed. However, in view of the building boom in the area, most of the Northwest suburban building departments seem understaffed.

The investigation was sparked by the recent complaints about shoddy construction in the Kaufman and Broad subdivision in Schaumburg. The village's missing inspection records and occupancy permits for the subdivision indicate inspections were not made and permits were not issued.

THE DEPARTMENT was badly understaffed at the time the homes were occupied in 1968.

Most of the commissioners in the ten Northwest suburbs complained about understaffing. But criteria for an adequately staffed building department are hard to pin down definitively.

However, some guidelines are available. Spokesmen for the Building Officials and Code Administrators International, Inc. (BOCA), the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and the Suburban Building Officials Conference suggested a minimum of four to eight inspectors in a variety of specialized areas.

BOCA recommends eight inspectors in areas ranging from plumbing to zoning to air pollution for a city with a population of 10,000 to 50,000, the size of Schaumburg and Hoffman Estates fall under.

BUT NONE OF THESE guidelines take into consideration the amount of construction going on. And there is no doubt that a tremendous amount of con-

Jaycees Compete In Raft Race

Fighting a flood swollen river, swift currents and stiff competition, members of the Schaumburg Jaycees battled other Jaycee chapters in a recent raft race down the Kankakee River.

"We had a good time and did not lose a man," said Jaycee Pres. Barry Goldberg. The race had been scheduled as a state-wide project for the Jaycees, but the heavy rains kept many less heartier souls away, he added.

Goldberg said the high water made the race more interesting. Nearly 40 Jaycees and their families made the trip to Kankakee for the seven mile race.

The group's craft, the "Homestead Queen," was constructed under the direction of Red Turner. Turner and a crew of seven piloted the raft to a third place finish in the race.

Goldberg added that it is hoped the race can become an annual event for all Illinois Jaycee chapters.

RIVER RACING ABOARD the "Homestead Queen" are members of the Schaumburg Jaycees who competed recently in a race with other Jaycee chapters down the Kankakee River. The local group captured third place in the race.

Char-Lee Weilers To Call Square Dance

The Char-Lee Weilers, a husband and wife team, will be the callers at St. Marcelline's 5th annual square dance at 8:30 p.m. Saturday at the church's recreation center, 820 Springguth Rd., Schaumburg.

Tickets for evening event are $6 per couple and may be obtained by calling 529-9268 or 894-3253 for reservations or more information.

Parks Offer Bigger Skating Program

An enlarged ice skating program will be offered this fall and winter by the Hoffman Estates Park District.

In addition to skating programs on several of the district's man-made lakes, skating will be offered at three neighborhood parks in the community this year.

Park district director Al Binder said supervised skating will be offered at Highland, Pinger and Highpoint lakes from 4 to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, 4 to 10 p.m. Friday, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturdays and holidays, and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The Twin Lakes will be maintained for skating, but no supervision will be provided, Binder said. He added that separate hockey rinks will be provided at all of these facilities

In addition to the lake skating programs, the park district will expand its program to provide ice at Valley, Armstrong and Twinbrook parks. These natural ice rinks will be supervised by homeowners associations in the area of the parks.

Hockey will be allowed at Valley and Twinbrook Parks from 5:30 to 7:30 daily and 10 a.m. to noon on Saturdays and holidays.

Binder said there are plans to provide a separate hockey area at Armstrong Park, but if this cannot be accomplished, hockey can be played at the same hours listed for Valley and Twinbrook parks.

Recreational skating hours will run during the same time periods listed for the lakes, Binder said.

Schaumburg CEC Requests $2,000 For 1973 Budget

The Schaumburg Clean Environment Committee (CEC) will request a budget of approximately $2,000 to cover activities planned for 1973.

Total committee budget, considered part of funds appropriated for the village health department, totals $1,950. A separate line item setting aside $100 for the CEC class recycling program contingency fund is also proposed.

Budget estimates, prepared by a three member sub-committee of CEC headed by Mrs. Betty Enbysk, allocate $300 for an environmental lecture series, $500 for a possible cooperative environmental program with Hoffman Estates and $500 for establishment of nature centers, preservation of open lands or biological stocking of ponds.

An additional $100 would be earmarked for a proposed purple martin birdhouse construction project, $150 for publications for research, $100 for an environmental library and filing cabinets and $300 for general administrative and miscellaneous expenditures.

Noting that projected CEC expenses are comparable to but lower than environmental groups in Hoffman Estates and Hanover Park, Mrs. Enbysk pointed out that some projects are subject to change.

ESTIMATES WILL be presented to village administrator John Cote this week by Robert Grossmann, village sanitarian. Later these figures will be incorporated into the total Schaumburg village budget and subsequently transmitted to the board of trustees for approval.

Since Schaumburg operates on a calendar year, budget preparation is now in progress in all village departments.

Mrs. Enbysk also emphasized that the recycling contingency fund would be used only if the reclamation center does not remain self-sustaining.

In other business this week, CEC members officially adopted a definition of purpose for the group.

According to this definition, CEC is a voluntary advisory group to Schaumburg Health, Recreation, Education and Environment Committee (SHREEC). Input is expected from residents and all village departments with special involvement of the health department.

School Board Will Appoint New Member

A new member is expected to be appointed Oct. 19 to a vacant post on the Schaumburg Township Dist. 54 Board of Education.

Residents of Dist. 54 interested in the position are asked to contact Supt. Wayne Schaible at 804 W. Bode Rd., Schaumburg, before Oct. 19.

Gerald Lewin, created the opening when he submitted his resignation Oct. 5 while serving the last year of his three year term.

A replacement for Lewin is being sought to complete the remainder of his term, ending in April of 1973.

At present the board is considering two applications to the post. Former board member Mrs. Bonnie Hannon and Edward Mozal, 1103 Lowell Ln., Schaumburg have submitted statements of interest to the board.

Anyone interested to be asked to submit a written statement to the board. Interviews with applicants will be held by the board Oct. 19.

The board is continuing its policy of inviting parent participation on board of education committees. Anyone interested may obtain further information by telephoning Supt. Schaible at 529-4200.

'Haunted House' 'Opens' Oct. 20

Ghosts and goblins will be the order of the day when the Delta Theta Tau Sorority presents its annual "Haunted House" on Oct. 20 and 21.

The spooky spectacular is scheduled to take place at 890 Schaumburg Rd., Streamwood. An admission donation of 35 cents will be charged.

Such fright favorites as Frankenstein, Dracula and the group's own resident witch will be on hand for the festivities.

The local Nu Rho chapter of the group is part of a national organization which raises funds each year to provide educational grants for counseling and guidance programs.

This Morning In Brief

The Nation

Encouraged by a boom in summer rail travel, Amtrack has decided to fight any major cutbacks in its passenger train routes next summer. They are determined to prevent an economy-minded White House agency from slashing train miles when the boom may be starting.

Southerners moved to force a second vote on whether to halt a filibuster against tough antibusing legislation in the Senate — even before members voted the first time.

Contending that the health and hearing of more than 80 million Americans are at stake, a coalition of labor, civic and medical groups urged enactment of tough antinoise legislation before Congress adjourns.

Striking Hawaii dock workers, after reaching a contract agreement with one major shipping firm, stepped up pressure against three others in the dock walkout's second day.

The State

The only home Abraham Lincoln ever owned became federal property at ceremonies establishing the Springfield home as a national historic site.

Mrs. Pat Nixon and Mayor Daley led politicians down State Street at the head of a Columbus Day parade celebration.

A manhunt through the dense underbrush and rows of corn outside of Coal City, Illinois ended with a trace of a missing policeman. For four days, thousands of searchers in airplanes, on horseback in canoes and on foot, scoured the area outside this community of 3,000 where Hillside patrolman Anthony Raymond was believed to have been abandoned, wounded and confused.

The World

Foreign Secretary Carlos Rumulo said in United Nations that martial law had been proclaimed in the Philippines to safeguard the country from foreign-supported subversion.

A bomb stuffed in a duffle bag exploded in the County Tyrone council building at Strabane near Northern Ireland's border with the Irish Republic, causing extensive damage to several service offices.

The death toll in the Mexican train wreck last week rose to 208, the second worst railroad disaster in Mexican history.

The War

U.S. Presidential adviser Henry Kissinger conducted a second day of secret peace talks with North Vietnamese officials. Meanwhile in Saigon, the U.S. Command said two more American planes have been downed. In the ground war, military spokesmen said South Vietnamese rangers recaptured a hamlet near Saigon.

THIS IS NOT Mark Spitz, winner of 7 Olympic gold medals — it is Scott Miller, a student teacher at Forest View High School who has been enjoying the comments made about his resemblance to the Olympic athlete. Miller teaches in the English Department.

Mark Spitz Doesn't Teach At Forest View

by WANDALYN RICE
Mark Spitz does not teach at Forest View High School.

Even so, some heads have been turning at the Arlington Heights school in the last few weeks because of Scott Miller, a student teacher in the English department.

Miller, who bears a striking resemblance to the winner of seven Olympic gold medals, has been the object of curiosity and rumors at the school.

"One history teacher told me he had heard a rumor that one of the English teachers had Mark Spitz as a guest lecturer," Miller said recently. "It's reached the point where some of the kids call me Mr. Spitz."

MILLER, WHO LIVES in Evanston, first became aware of his resemblance to Spitz at a picnic the day after the Olympic swim meet began. A friend of his mother's told him he looked like Spitz and "I'd never heard of him," Miller said.

At Forest View students stare at him in the halls, fellow teachers address him as "Mark" and frequently girls gather around the door of his classroom debating whether he looks like Spitz or not,

Miller said.

And he is enjoying it. "It's fun in school and it helps keep the classes light with a lot of joking," he said.

There is, however, one major difference between Miller and Spitz. "I haven't done much swimming," the young teacher said. "I always tell people I swim better underwater than on top."

Add Drainage Ditch To Plan

The Metropolitan Sanitary District Board of Trustees has approved adding a drainage ditch to the construction contract for the Salt Creek Water Reclamation Plant in Schaumburg Township.

The district board approved spending up to $3,704 for the ditch which will drain the service road to the plant. The total Salt Creek Water Reclamation plant and interceptor project is being built at a cost of approximately $43 million.

In other action at the meeting last week, the MSD board accepted several state and federal grants to help finance the Salt Creek project.

The state contributed an additional $214,525 to the Salt Creek plant construction costs bringing the total state grant for the project to $11,126,500.

The board also accepted a $155,150 federal grant for the replacement of Salt Creek Interceptor Sewer No. 2.

THAT INTERCEPTOR will run from 800 feet south of Higgins Road north to 150 feet south of Golf Road, along the west side of Rte. 53.

The board also accepted federal grants of slightly more than $1 million for Upper Salt Creek Interceptor No. 3 and $801,460 for Interceptor No. 10. Interceptor No. 3 continues north from No. 2 to a point north of Algonquin Road. Interceptor No. 10 will run from the Salt Creek plant southwest beyond Plum Grove Road.

The MSD board also approved paying $43,100 to E. J. Albrecht Co., as partial payment for the construction work in expanding the Hanover Water Reclamation plant to handle an additional four million gallons of sewage daily.

The board also approved paying $2,650 and signing an agreement to continue sharing the cost of crest-stage gauges on streams in the county with the United States Geological Survey.

Panel Weighs ID Plan For 4 Suburbs

A cash grant to the villages of Schaumburg, Hoffman Estates, Hanover Park and Streamwood to finance an "Operation Identification" program will be considered today by the Chicago-Cook County Criminal Justice Commission.

The grant, for $1,350, will finance the purchase of high-speed engraving pens for the four villages. Local residents and businessmen will use the pens to engrave their driver's license numbers on valuable items. The program is designed to reduce burglaries by making the marked items difficult for burglars to sell.

The total cost of the program in the four communities will be $1,699. The villages will pay a portion of the cost in salaries to policemen involved in the project.

Another item to be considered at the commission's monthly meeting is a $2.7 million grant to build a new men's work-release center for the Cook County Department of Corrections.

Total cost of the building will be $7.4 million. It will be built adjacent to the county jail in Chicago.

Funds to continue a training program for Juvenile Court probation officers in family treatment techniques will also be considered by the commission.

Commissioner Richard A. Devine will explain the $18.6 million high crime-criminal justice activity project which was announced by the criminal justice commission and the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission (ILEC) last month. Devine was chairman of a special negotiating committee that reached agreement with the ILEC on the proposed anti-crime project for Cook County and the City of Chicago.

Last week Donald L. Totten pulled on one of the many hats he wears these days and intimated that Illinois tollroad fees are expected to soon decrease near more.

In an interview with Paddock Publications, Totten, a 3rd district candidate for the state legislature, said he's received an indication that toll charges will soon be reduced to 25 cents.

"Not that crass," Totten retorted when asked if the toll cut would go into effect immediately prior to the Nov. 7 general election.

In a slightly different vein, has anyone noticed the striking similarity in appearance between Totten and the actor who portrays Michael Corleone in the movie version of "The Godfather?"

DUE TO heavy press of private practice, Dr. Larry Rubin, a local podiatrist, has resigned from Hoffman Estates Board of Health. A replacement is expected soon. Also relinquishing a village post is Sandra Etchingham who has left Schaumburg's Clean Environment Committee (CEC) due to ill health. She was a founding member of the environmental panel.

AND THE beat goes on. CEC members vocally commended trustees Herb Aigner, Peter Justen and Denis Ledgerwood for their recent voting records in opposition to granting sign variances. However, the trio was on the losing side in cases in question.

CONANT HIGH School seniors have donated $250 to the Palatine Youth Commission for purposes of establishing an emergency fund for needy cases applying for help at The Bridge, a facility for troubled teens.

Other tawny (from Tampa, Fla.) villagers are Ken and Ursula Orzolek who have both just experienced important birthdays. Another favorite birthday person is David (Mr. Touchdown) Bond who entered his 11th year by running 80 yards to claim victory for the first game played by his Hoffman Estates Park District flag football team.

See Conflict Of Interest

by JOANN VAN WYE

For two years the Rolling Meadows Park District paid all its insurance premiums to the firm which employs Park Commissioner William Billings.

The Illinois attorney general's office considers the act a conflict of interest.

A spokesman for the attorney general's office cited a section of the Illinois Revised Statutes which states "no such member (of the governing board) shall be directly or indirectly in any way pecuniarily interested in any contract of work of any kind, whatever, connected with his park district." The section was passed in 1951.

The possible conflict of interest stems from action taken by the park board in December of 1969 naming Baumann and Ozzie as the insurance agency for the park district. The policies remained in effect until they were phased out during 1971.

The annual premium to Baumann and Ozzie was $2,283 plus more than $600 for Workmen's Compensation Insurance.

BILLINGS, THE present park board president, had been employed by Baumann and Ozzie prior to the 1969 board action and remains with the firm.

Billings says he received no direct monetary gain because the agency and not he personally insured the park district. He admits, however, he could use the fact Baumann and Ozzie insured the Rolling Meadows Park District to get other insurance contracts.

The history of the possible conflict of interest dates back to the spring of 1969 when Billings, a new park commissioner, was asked to examine the district's insurance coverage. Billings recommended a change in the district's insurance program.

Files examined two weeks ago in Billings' home contained copies of letters dated June 18, 1969, to four insurance agencies requesting bids.

OF THE FOUR letters, two were sent to Rolling Meadows insurance agencies; one to a Palatine agency and one to an Arlington Heights agency.

Baumann and Ozzie of Skokie was the only agency out of the immediate area asked to submit a bid and the request was apparently made in person as no letter is on file.

Three bids on the district's insurance program, including one from Baumann and Ozzie, were received prior to the July, 1969, board meeting. At that time Billings recommended it would not be to the board's advantage to accept the bids as presented. He recommended updating of the insurance coverage, according to the minutes.

In December of 1969 Billings recommended the park district acquire another insurance agent.

There is no record of new bids being requested between the July recommendation not to accept bids and update the coverage and the December recommendation to acquire a new insurance agent. The agent at that time became Baumann and Ozzie.

THE MINUTES of the December 1969 board meeting state "Commissioner Billings stated that as he is a board member, he naturally could not be an agent in this transaction. He felt an associate of his company could write the policy and, as Commissioner Billings would not receive any sort of remuneration for this, there would be no conflict of interest."

Robert Casey, board attorney in 1969, concurred with Billings' opinion there would be no conflict of interest, according to the minutes.

When contacted recently Casey said the board was aware Billings had some interest in Baumann and Ozzie before the insurance contract was awarded. He said he decided it would not be a conflict of interest because Billings would not share in any proceeds from the earnings of the agent who wrote the policy.

Minutes from the meeting record the vote on the action as three ayes, one nay and one abstention. No record is available of how each commissioner voted. Billings said he abstained from the vote because he thought there might be a conflict of interest.

"PROBABLY IN THE true sense of the word I was wrong, but at the time it was a savings to the park district," said Billings, when contacted recently.

Billings explained in 1969 he was a salaried employee of Baumann and Ozzie and received no direct monetary gain from the contract.

In 1971 Baumann and Ozzie became a corporation and Billings became a stock holding vice president. Under this arrangement, he admits he did receive a direct monetary gain by having the corporation handle the insurance for the park district.

Billings said when he was named vice president, the insurance policies of the district were transferred to Allen T. Archer as soon as it became economically feasible. He explained that to change agents before policies expire would have involved a penalty payment by the district.

TECHNICALLY, George Baumann of Baumann and Ozzie was the district's insurance agent from 1969 to 1971. However, Steve Person, superintendent of parks and recreation, stated Billings was in fact the person the park district often contacted about a claim.

"It was really a good thing we had Bill (Billings) around. Anytime anything went wrong we just gave him a call and he would come over and handle it for us," said Person.

A Rolling Meadows citizen's group, which recently learned of the possible conflict of interest, has discussed taking the matter to the Cook County State's Attorney but no action has been taken.

Building Department Understaffed

struction aptly describes the situation in the Northwest suburbs.

Schaumburg is a case in point.

Cahill said his department has a total of six inspectors; two electrical, one plumbing, and three building. Additionally, Schaumburg has an assistant building commissioner and a plan examiner.

But Cahill said he is so swamped with work he has difficulty handling the administrative end of his office. The reason is rather obvious.

Schaumburg had over $75.5 million in construction volume last year, according to Bell Savings reports, and through July, 1972, already $43.5 million has been reported.

"I'M GOING TO FIGHT for more help. I need more inspectors in the field, especially another plumbing inspector," Cahill said.

He also said he needs a secretary to handle all the phone calls and paperwork he's plagued with. Presently, the department's clerical help is located in the village hall, while the building department is in the public works building.

The secretary and clerk in the village hall only process permits and tabulate fees, Cahill said. They are not available for typing the memos flooding Cahill's desk, filing the plans which are crowding the office, and answering the phone which rings constantly.

Cahill showed last year's report which said the department collected almost $1 million in building fees. This year, through September, the department has collected nearly $800,000 in such fees. These building fees are supposed to pay for services of the building department.

Golden Group To Attend Play

The S and H Golden Group is planning an afternoon trip Thursday to Marengo to see the play "Dependable Marble" at the Shady Lane Playhouse.

The group also will have lunch at the playhouse.

Total cost of the trip, including lunch will be $5.35. Bus transportation will leave the Meineke Community Center about 10:30 a.m. and return about 5:30 p.m.

Reservations for the trip must be made in advance. Interested persons should contact Suzie Sartorius, 894-4794, Joyce Paul, 529-2290 or Clarice Simmons 529-5287 for information.

Seek Federal Assistance For Wood Dale Station

Elk Grove Village commuters who use the Milwaukee Road Ry. station in Wood Dale may be getting a new station and parking lot.

The Northwest Suburban Mass Transit District and the City of Wood Dale are seeking federal assistance for construction of a new station and parking lot.

The transit district, "proposes to install a new station structure, passenger platforms and lighting" on the east side of the intersection of the railroad and Irving Park Road (Ill. Rte. 19).

The proposed structure would replace the present station located on the west side of the intersection.

The City of Wood Dale proposed to purchase land around the new station and construct a paved and lighted parking lot.

James Brimeyer, Wood Dale city manager, said that the parking lot would cost an estimated $507,500. The city is seeking federal grants of $340,000. The balance of the cost would be paid by the state and Wood Dale.

WOOD DALE'S portion would be $50,500, according to a legal notice.

The station is estimated to cost $79,400. Two-thirds of the cost, $52,500 is being requested in federal grants. The remaining third of the cost will be split between the Illinois Department of Transportation and the Milwaukee Road.

Brimeyer said that if the federal grants are approved by the next Congress construction could start in the spring.

Construction is estimated to take a year to 18 months to complete.

Public hearings on the application for grants, required by law before the grant applications can be made, will be held at 8 p.m., Nov. 8, in the Itasca Village Hall, 100 N. Walnut, Itasca.

'Communication' Is PTA Meeting Topic

Communication between parents and children will be the subject of tonight's meeting of the St. Peter Parent-Teacher League.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium, 208 E. Schaumburg Rd., Schaumburg.

The program, titled "How well do we communicate with our children," is designed to help parents become aware that communication with their children involves more than just hearing.

It involves listening as well. Parents will be shown how to begin developing good listening skills.

Miss Kay Rotermond, fifth grade teacher at St. Peter's and Mr. and Mrs. Don Noeltl will serve as program leaders.

Parents of day school, Sunday school, and high school students are welcome to attend.

Flea Market Space Signup Is Saturday

Saturday is "sign up for space day" for the Oct. 21 Fairview PTA flea market.

Mrs. Peter French, chairman of the flea market said a $3 fee will reserve and pay for an 8-foot by 8-foot space at the coming flea market.

She may be contacted at Fairview School, 146 Arizona Blvd., Hoffman Estates, Saturday from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. or called at home for reservations or information.

Anyone who has arts and crafts to sell, an interesting hobby to display, or antiques and rummage to sell may rent space.

The PTA does not charge a commission on sales and makes its profit from space reservation and refreshment booths.

Some of the booths feature local artists works. An area clockmaker will show and sell his handmade clocks and an import shop is also planned.

4 Sergeants Set For Lieutenant Posts

Four members of the Schaumburg Police Department have been named to a lieutenants' promotion list.

Police Chief Martin Conroy said the officers, all sergeants, will now be qualified to be promoted. The chief said two lieutenant positions will probably be created in December. This will be a new position within the department.

The results of the test, in order of performance, were Sgt. Robert Hammond, Sgt. James Dillon, Sgt. Alvin Hersfield and Sgt. Robert Ronne.

The test, conducted by the village's fire and police commission, included a written examination, oral interview and an evaluation of prior service in the department.

Airport Study Group Plans Meeting Friday

A conference between members of the Schaumburg Airport Study Committee, representatives of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) and Illinois Department of Aeronautics (IDA) has been tentatively set for Friday.

Purpose of the meeting is to begin development of a work statement and pre-application conference with Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff, consulting firm chosen to perform an airport expansion feasibility study.

Representatives of the consulting group are also expected to attend the conference, according to Ray LeBeau, committee chairman.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Great Hall conference room.

Eugenia Wins Woman Of Year Award

Awards, endorsements and appointments: State Rep. Eugenia S. Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, has received the first annual Illinois Woman of the Year award of the National Organization of Women.

N.O.W. singled out Mrs. Chapman's efforts for ratification of the constitutional amendment on women's rights in the last session of the legislature as the reason for the award. The organization also commended her for sponsorship of legislation favoring women in the areas of job opportunities, credit and education.

She is a candidate for reelection in the 3rd Legislative District.

A NUMBER OF local legislators and candidates have received endorsement of the Illinois Small Business Men's Association. They include Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman, R-Arlington Heights; Sen. John A. Graham, R-Barrington; and Neil C. Hebeisen of Elgin, Democratic candidate for the state legislature in the new 2nd District.

Schlickman was described by the ISBA as "exceptionally well qualified."

He and Graham also received endorsements from the Legislative Interest Committee of the Illinois Dentists. Schlickman also is supported by the Northwest Suburban Division of the Illinois Optometric Society.

RICHARD A. MUGALIAN, Palatine Township Democratic committeeman and candidate for the legislature in the 2nd District, has been endorsed by regional organizations of the United Auto Workers and the Amalgamate Meatcutters and Butchers.

ANN MATASAR of Evanston, Democratic candidate for the state Senate in the 1st District, has received the endorsement of the Illinois AFL-CIO. She is opposing state Rep. Bradley Glass, R-Northfield, for the Senate seat.

Roger A. Bjorvik is Palatine Township Area Chairman of People for Percy, a statewide volunteer organization working to elect the Republican senator.

Bjorvik, a partner in the Chicago law firm of Ebers, Metksas and Bjorvik and Associates, was the Palatine Jaycees Man of the Year in 1967.

He recently announced the appointment of Clayton W. Brown, vice president of Midwest Iron Works as Ad Day chairman, to supervise an advertising campaign for Percy. Clayton also lives in Palatine.

GOV. RICHARD B. OGILVIE has appointed a number of chairmen of community committees for his reelection in the Northwest suburbs. They include Jerome W. Pinderski of Palatine and Stanley Amren of Mount Prospect. Mayor Herbert Behrel of Des Plaines and Mayor Frederick E. Downey of Hoffman Estates are heading committees in their communities.

The Wheeling Township Republican Organization will sponsor a Women's Day on Wednesday, Oct. 18, featuring women candidates and officeholders and wives of candidates.

Mrs. Mary Carlson of Prospect Heights, appointed chairman of the day by James T. Ryan, Wheeling Township campaign chairman, said activities will include coffees and other appearances by the guests, a luncheon and a press conference.

Among the guests will be Mrs. Charles H. Percy and Mrs. Richard B. Ogilvie and Mrs. George Lindberg, wife of the Republican candidate for state comptroller.

Candidates include Mrs. Virginia Macdonald of Arlington Heights, candidate for the state legislature; Mrs. Lucy Reum, candidate for Cook County recorder of deeds; and Mrs. Joan G. Anderson, candidate for the county Metropolitan Sanitary District board of trustees. Also featured at the events will be Mrs. Alice Harms, Arlington Heights village trustee.

The Lighter Side

by Dick West

WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's bicentennial anniversary is creeping up on us and thus far nobody seems to have a very clear idea how we should go about celebrating it.

The commission that was created to make plans for the event, is from all reports, floundering. Its members have yet to come forth with any proposals worthy of the occasion.

It could be the commissioners are planning a surprise party. In which case I owe them an apology. But in their public deliberations, they appear distressingly unimaginative.

The embarrassing thing about this is that we can't pretend the bicentennial slipped our minds. It isn't like a wedding anniversary or our Aunt Bertha's piano recital.

THE DATE IS right there in all the history books — 1776. And little reminders are visible everywhere.

So we can't wait until 1977, snap our fingers and say, "By George, last year was our bicentennial. Is it too late to send a card?"

It is my feeling that the observance should have a practical aspect — something that links hope for the future with pride in the past.

And since our hope for the future rests on garbage disposal, how about tying that in with the celebration? Here's the drill:

WE TAKE ALL of our billions of tons of refuse during the next three years and dump it in the center of the country, molding it into the shape of a birthday cake.

It would be a project on a scale with the Pyramids. Tourists from all over the world would come to view it, thus solving our balance of payments problem.

And it would be right in keeping with the spirit of America, whose philosophical credo is "Think Big!"

With the dawning of 1976, the "cake" is whitewashed to resemble frosting, and upon it are placed 200 Saturn rockets, representing candles.

On the Fourth of July, all 200 rockets are fired simultaneously, blasting into the air 200 space vehicles in a precision flight that form the letters "USA" as they orbit the earth. Meanwhile, as many citizens as possible gather around the base of the cake and sing "Happy Birthday to us."

Unfortunately, a trash pile that large would cover up Lebanon, Kan., which happens to be near the geographical center of the country.

But I'm sure that is a sacrifice the folks in Lebanon would cheerfully make to help the rest of us enjoy the bicentennial.

Okay, commissioners, you've got the ball. Let's see you run with it.

The Doctor Says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read an article saying that mold on food can cause cancer. It quoted a doctor in Germany saying that malignant tumors are created by fungus and molds which grow on many types of foods, including corn, rice, bread, jams, jellies and other common foods. He claimed that if the housewife scraped away the mildew on bread or on jam that invisible fungus spores would be just inches away and would cause trouble.

I have often scraped mold away from bread and then toasted the remainder and removed the mold on jams and jellies. Or I've cut off half a potato or tomato and used the good half. Now I am frightened. Is it all that bad. Is the family kitchen such a monster.

I am also a cheese buff. I buy the best because I am a gourmet cook, and I know that cheese stores rub off the mold and then sell the cheese. If it's so bad, the cheese stores certainly need supervision.

Dear Reader — If the only cause for cancers were mold and fungus, these diseases would have been cured or prevented long ago. Let me remind you that life-saving penicillin was obtained from the mold on bread. I don't advocate eating mold or fungi (unless you're talking about mushrooms which are giant fungi) but I'm afraid that you've read an exaggerated report that is not accepted by the medical scientific community. In other words, it's more of a scare article than an article dealing with established facts.

Excessive ingestion of yeast can sometimes cause some problems with digestion but other than that there isn't real proof that eating foods that have had the mold removed will cause any difficulties, and even that problem is relatively rare.

Dear Dr. Lamb — What would you think if you were in a hospital deathly sick and all the visitors were standing around puffing on cigarettes, cigars and pipes up and down the hall until you could hardly see. My wife went through this for several weeks before she passed away. Why hospitals allow this is beyond me. However, doctors come into the sick room puffing on cigarettes or a rotten cigar too.

Dear Reader—I think it's terrible. In this situation the family would be entirely justified to ask for a "no visitors" sign to be posted on the patient's door. Short of this a "no smoking" sign should be posted above the bed.

In my opinion, doctors should not smoke while they are seeing patients, either in their consultation room and most certainly not in a public hospital within the sickroom of the patient. Also, I think patients owe doctors this same courtesy. I personally dislike having a patient sit down across the desk from me and blowing smoke in my face. I'm sure many other doctors feel the same way.

Too many visitors when you are sick are a pain in the neck. It is not time to have to play host.

Win At Bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

Take a look at the West hand only. Your partner opens with one heart. South overcalls with one spade and you give a limit jump raise to three hearts. The bidding continues with three spades; four hearts by your partner; and four spades by South.

It is obviously your hand. Your partner has opened the bidding and you are looking right at two aces. What should you do?

You don't want to bid five hearts. Your partner can have lots of good, sound opening bids that leave you no play for 11 tricks. Then, do you double?

The West player we were watching doubled. East left the double in and South was promptly set one trick at his four-spade contract.

"How could I tell that we were cold for six hearts," asked West.

"You couldn't," was our reply. "However, you could have let your partner into the game. All you had to do was pass."

If West has passed East would have gone on to five hearts. He would have seen little chance to hurt four spades. He might have been allowed to play there or the opponents might have gone to five spades. It would be too much for East.

Strong Winds Pose New Hazard From Big Jet Airplanes

by JAMES VESELY

A new hazard of the jet age — damaging winds caused by the new wide-bodied jets — is causing concern among aviation officials even though there is almost nothing they can do about it.

A recently released report by the National Transportation Safety Board points up the hazard of jet blast, particularly the dangers caused by the huge three and four engine jumbos such as the Boeing 747, the McDonnell Douglas DC-10 and the Lockheed LC-1011.

The 747 began landing at jetports about two years ago while the DC-10 has been in service for more than a year and the LC-1011 less than a year.

Within that time, the safety board reports, serious accidents causing death and extensive property damage have occurred from the near cyclonic winds caused by the big jets.

So strong are the winds developed by the new planes that the federal agency has compared the power of a 747 at takeoff to the thrust developed by a Delta rocket, the type used to launch communications satellites into orbit.

A JUMBO JET caused the death of a ground mechanic who was caught by a plane's winds and thrown 150 feet.

In another case, three airline stewardesses were hospitalized after the windows of an air terminal were blown in by jet exhaust and onto the table where they were eating lunch.

At another airport, a guard at a construction site was blown more than 60 feet and suffered lacerations and bruises when a jumbo jet turned and directed its winds in his direction.

In most cases pilots of the aircraft were unaware of any damage caused by their maneuvers on the ground. Given the present size of most airports, there is probably little the pilot can do when forced to bring his jumbo jet to a designated ramp or taxi area.

Here are the types of winds ground crews and bystanders are confronting when a wide-bodied jet taxis or takes off:

For a three-engine craft such as the DC-10, winds of 75 miles per hour are generated 50 feet behind the tail while the engines are idling. At breakaway, when the plane is rolling forward, winds are 75 miles per hour 200 feet behind the tail. And at takeoff when the plane is at maximum power, winds of 200 m.p.h. exist 150 feet behind the tail, 75 m.p.h. 500 feet behind, and still as much as 35 m.p.h. 1,100 feet behind the aircraft.

FOR THE BIG four engine jumbos such as the 747, the wind velocities are even higher.

At idle, the 747 produces 35 m.p.h. winds 200 feet behind the tail. At breakaway, winds of 65 m.p.h. exist 200 feet behind and at takeoff, winds as high as 100 m.p.h. are generated 275 feet behind the tail. Even at 1,600 feet behind the tail of a 747 at takeoff, winds of 50 m.p.h. exist.

Obviously, one answer to the problem of wind damage is ground crews, pilots and passengers who are aware of the dangers and so alert to them. The Transportation Safety Board makes as one of its recommendations greater awareness on everyone's part.

But the board also points out that airport designers will have to accommodate themselves to the idea of high velocity winds coming from aircraft turning or simply idling next to buildings or walkways.

To members of the aircraft industry, the problem is well known but equally frustrating.

Marvin Witlock, senior vice president of Maintenance Operations for United Air Lines, said one of the frustrations is the demands of the passengers.

"When jets first came to commercial airports we had passenger lounges and entranceways built with no windows at all. But we found passengers would go upstairs to look at the airplane and then rush down at the last minute to get aboard.

"THERE SEEMS TO BE some psychological need for people to look at the airplane they will fly in and they will not board it directly from behind a brick wall.

"The result is stronger windows and different ways of boarding the airplanes."

Although the safety board's report does not specify which airports suffered damage or injured employees due to the big jets, it is only large metropolitan airports such as O'Hare which can handle aircraft of that size.

The board's report is very specific, however, in detailing the some 40 accidents which have occurred when wide-bodied jets tangle — even at a distance — with small private airplanes.

Reports of small planes being flipped over, receiving damaging blows from high winds or being crippled during flight are documented by the board's report. Once again, the safety board urges pilot awareness of the jet's power to avert accidents.

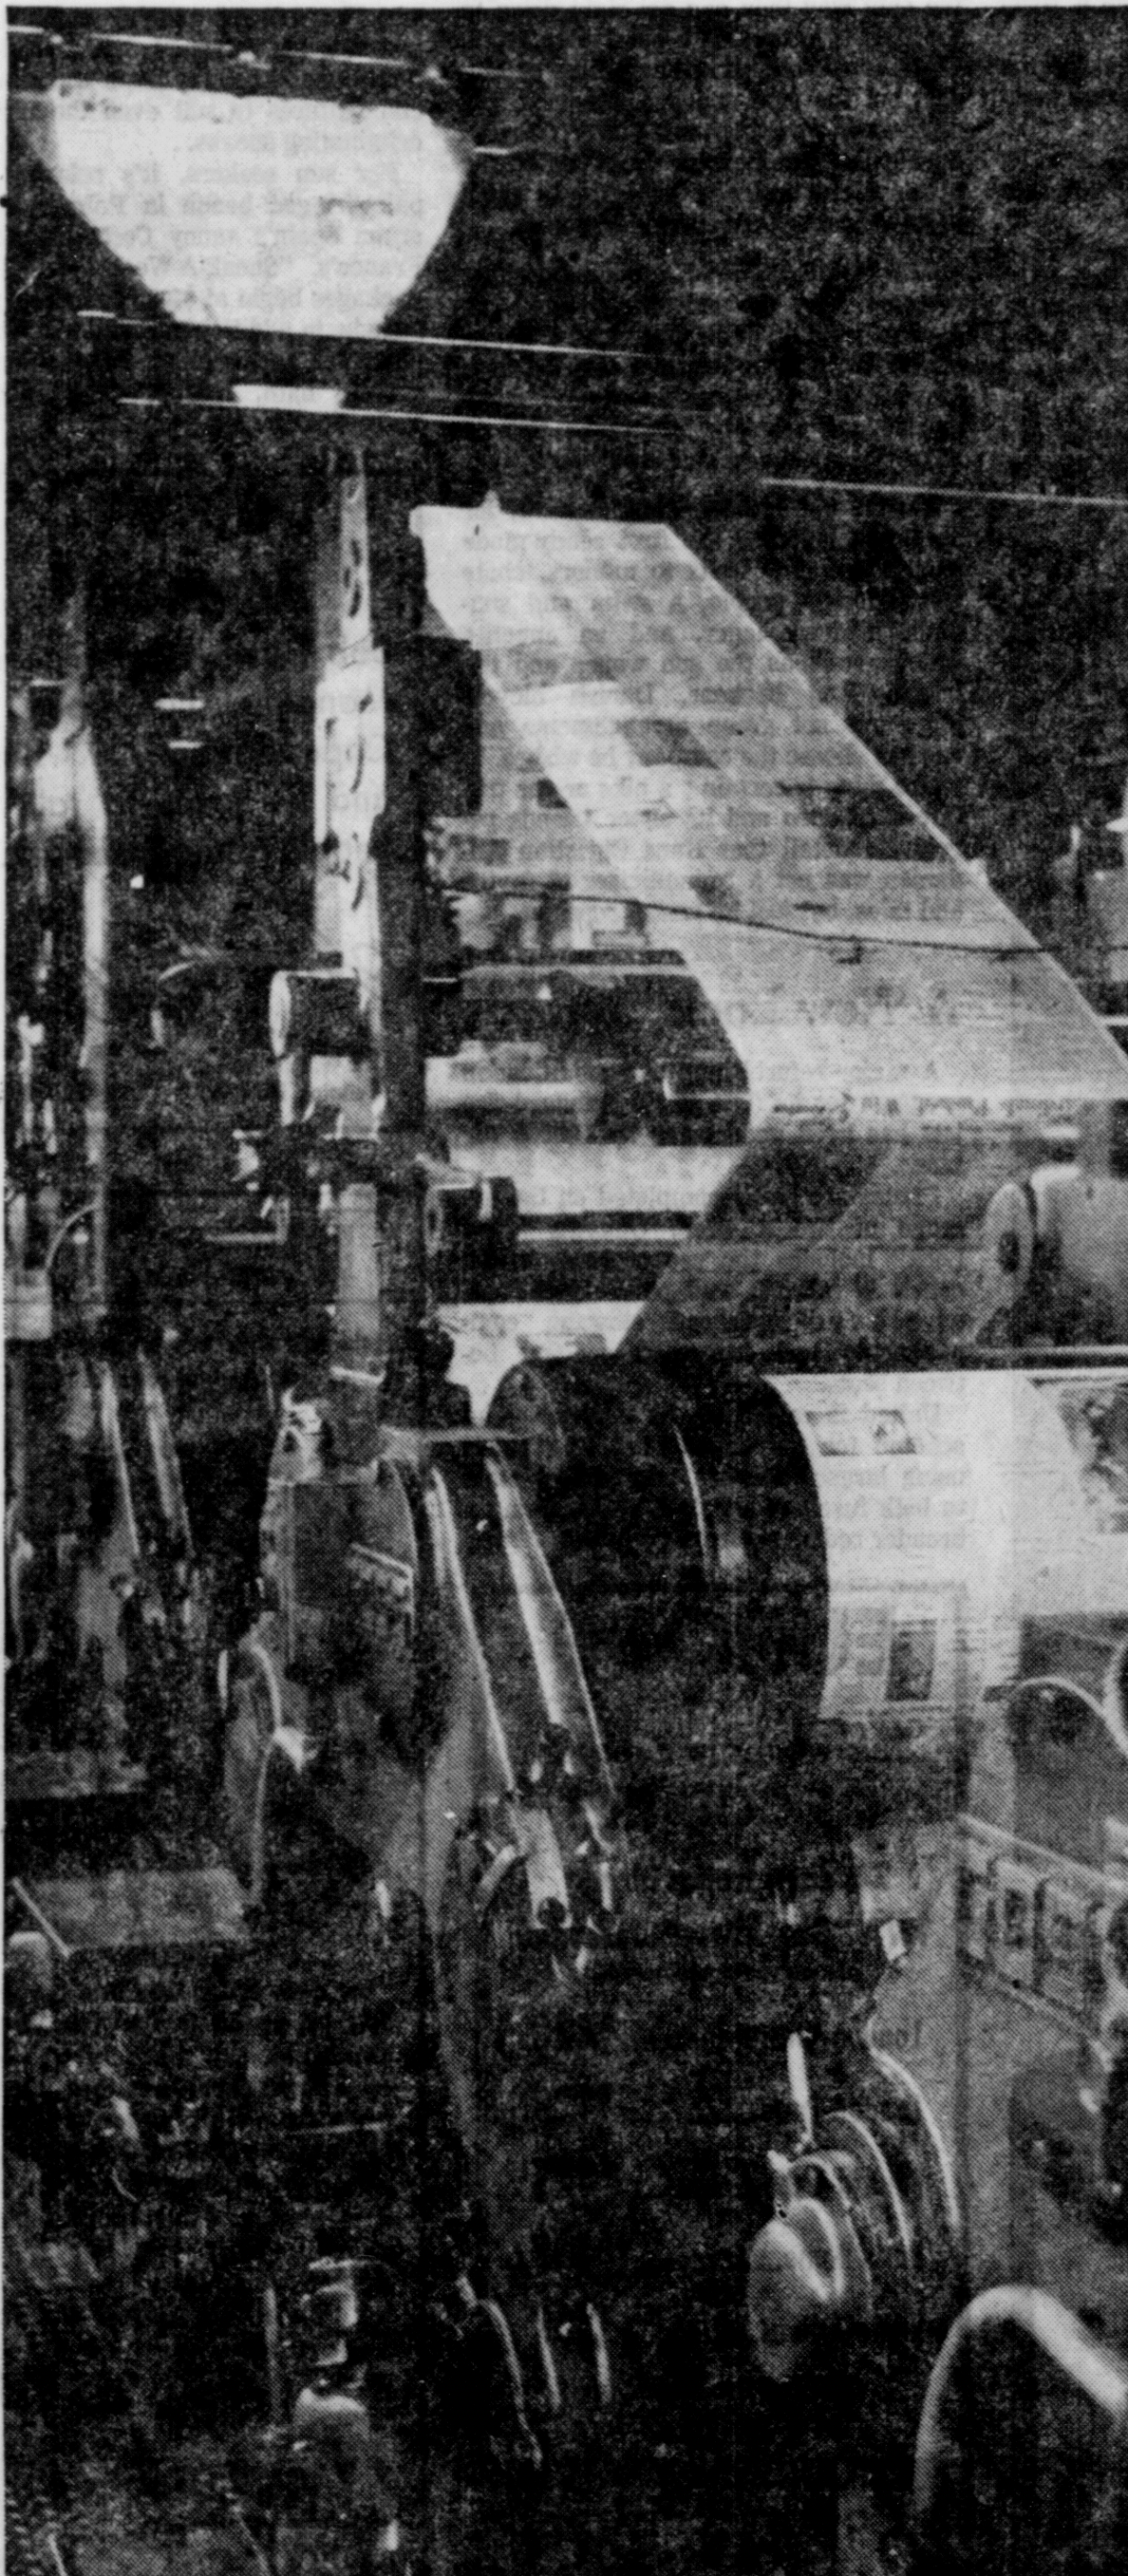

Based on the safety board's report, it appears almost everything conspires to make the jumbo jets potentially more hazardous. Although the new big jets move some 300 per cent more air per second than earlier jets such as the DC-8, the exhaust is cleaner and virtually invisible, thus making the approaching dangerous winds difficult to detect.

BIG, JUMBO JETS are a boon to the economy minded air industry, but hidden dangers follow the plane in its jet wash. A 747 such as this one will generate fierce winds as much as 1,000 feet behind the tail at takeoff.

Rolling out the news... 55,200 miles a year!

Keeping the people of the Northwest suburbs informed puts a lot of mileage on our presses. Throughout the year they will roll out 55,200 miles of news and advertising. Page to page, this would form a newsprint ribbon reaching twice around the world!

But more important than length is the depth of coverage our reporters strive to give the happenings of your dynamic suburbs ... a depth found in each of the ten daily 'Herald newspapers.

This is a boast you can share ... for it is your demand as a concerned, involved citizen for daily local news that keeps the Herald presses rolling.

Athletic Day Slated At St. Viator High School

St. Viator High School at Oakton and Dryden, Arlington Heights, will hold an Athletic Day on Oct. 14 for eighth-grade boys in the Northwest suburban area. Boys from both public and parochial elementary schools may visit the school between 1 and 4 p.m.

Swimming in the St. Viator pool, basketball, touch football, wrestling and movies are included in the planned activities. Snacks will be available during the afternoon. Eighth-grade students who have not already received free passes to all St. Viator home football games this season may pick up passes at the school on Oct. 14.

There is no admission fee for Athletic Day, but boys who attend should bring a bathing suit, gym shoes and a towel.

STAFF MEMBERS AND students at the Catholic boys' high school also plan to visit eighth grade classrooms in parochial elementary schools later this year. The Rev. Kenneth Yarno, C.S.V., will supervise the program which will include slide presentations and talks on high-lights at the school during the past year. Parochial elementary school principals in the area visited St. Viator in September to meet school officials and learn more about the new educational programs which were initiated at the school this year.

Lay advisory board members of the school also take an active part in the school's efforts to inform elementary students and their parents about St. Viator activities. Cochairman of the "outreach" committee this year are John Eichman of Arlington Heights and James Martin of Palatine.

James Killiam of Palatine was elected president of the advisory board this spring. Ernest Renaud of Mount Prospect is vice president and Martin Maney of Palatine is secretary-treasurer. Other board members are John Kelly and John Rech of Hoffman Estates; Richard Dowdle, Elk Grove Village; Joan Wade and William O'Keefe; Mount Prospect, Sam Beltram, Prospect Heights; Marie Breen, Palatine and Russell Fitton and Henry Rogers of Arlington Heights.

LWV Political Rally Friday

More than 40 candidates, covering Illinois legislative districts one through five, are expected to appear at an Old Fashioned Political Rally, Friday night at Arlington Park Race Track.

Sponsored by League of Women Voters units of Palatine, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Schaumburg-Hoffman Area Provisional League, the event will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Candidates scheduled to appear include Democratic gubernatorial candidate Dan Walker, U.S. Rep. Philip Crane, Rep. Eugenia Chapman (D-Arlington Heights), Bernard Carey, GOP candidate for Cook County State's Attorney, and Clifford Leverence, a Democratic nominee for the Illinois Senate.

The rally, which will feature banjo players, beer and a cash bar, is sponsored by the league as part of its non-partisan policy which only seeks to inform all voters through such informational series.

Additional information may be obtained by contacting Mary Read, voters service chairman, 882-0537.

Police Departments Win Safety Awards

Police departments in Elk Grove Village, Des Plaines, Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows have received pedestrian safety honor awards from the Chicago Motor Club.

Elk Grove Village police earned an Award for Excellence for its 1971 pedestrian death and accident record while the three other police departments received special citations for their outstanding pedestrian safety performances last year.

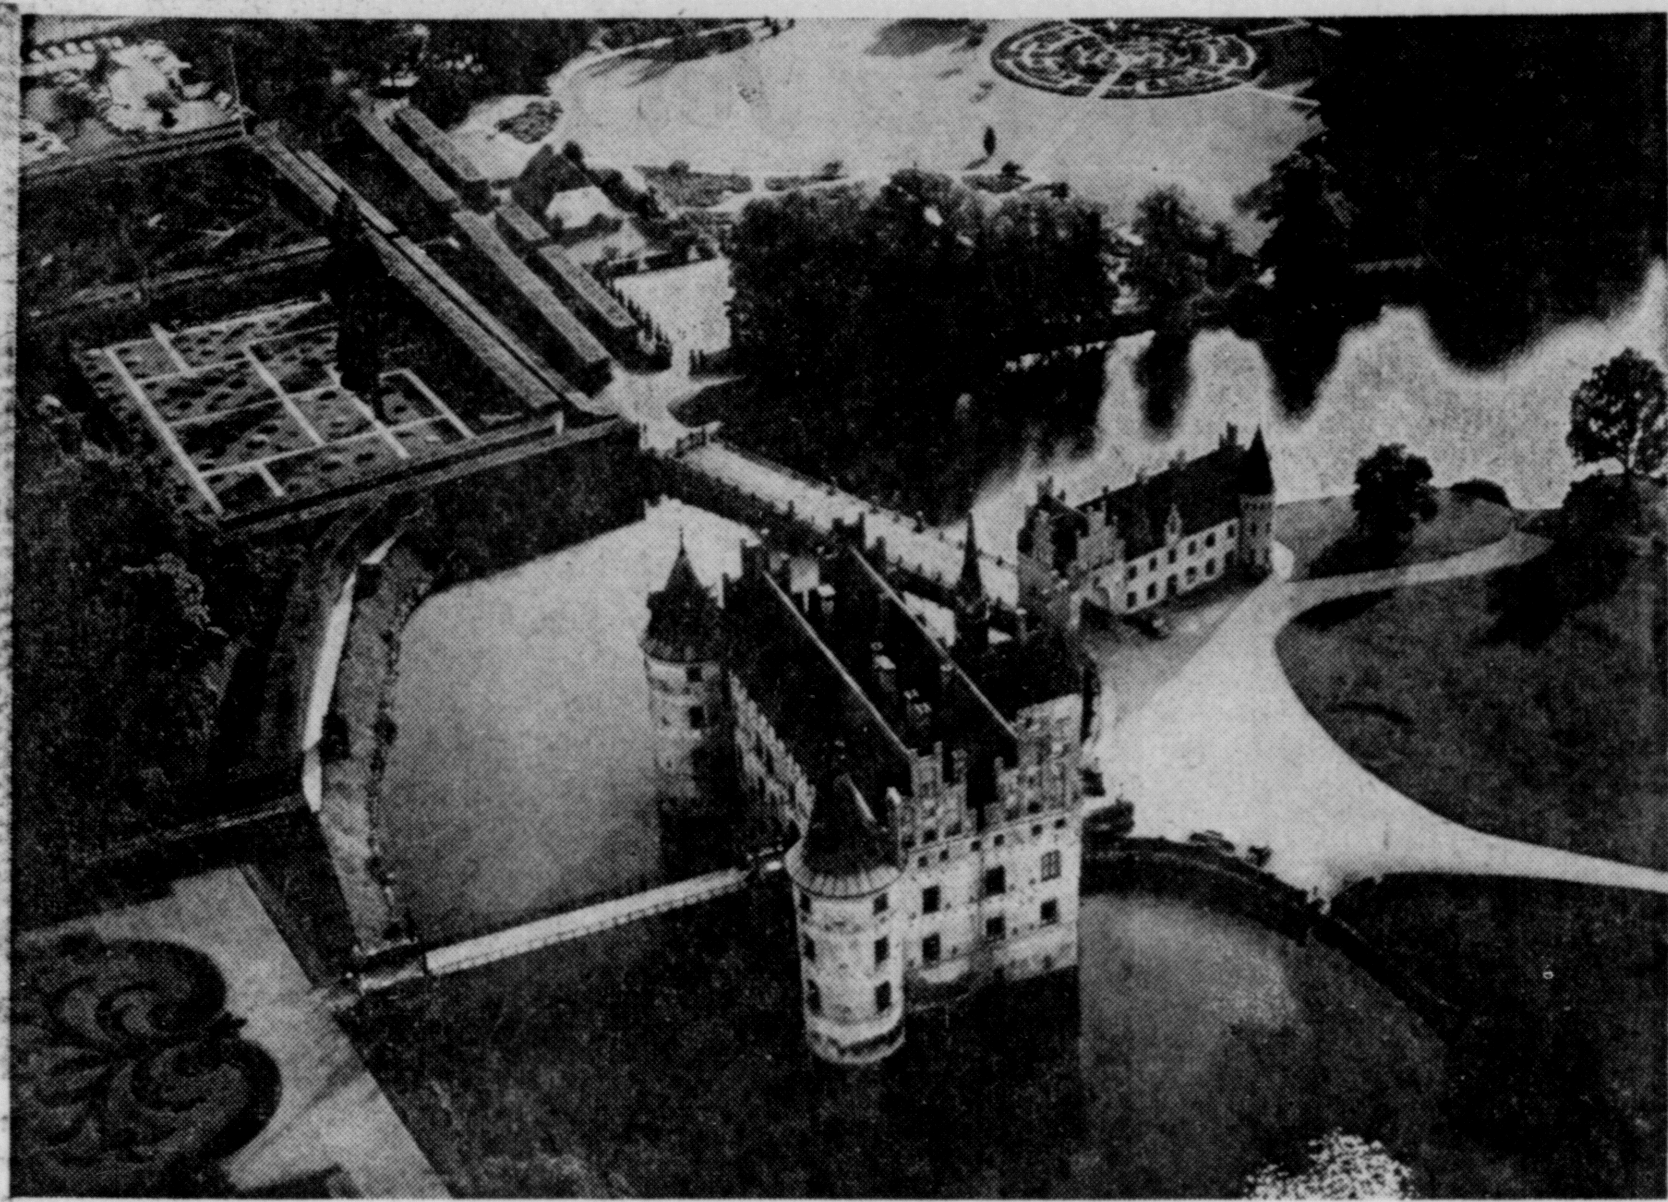

Five St. Viator Students Commended

Five St. Viator High School students received letters of commendation for their high performance on the 1971 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test.

The students, all seniors, are Christopher Dress, Stephen Kay and Michael O'Kane, all of Arlington Heights, Gregory Dunn of Palatine and Michael Kelly of Mount Prospect.

These pupils are among the upper two per cent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1973. Their names and test scores are reported to the colleges they named as their first and second choices when they took the test in October 1971.

The commended students rank high but are slightly below the semi-finalists announced by the National Merit Scholarship officials in September. St. Viator students who achieved semi-finalist standing are Robert Blandford, Andrew Dornier and Michael Mitchell of Mount Prospect and Thomas Klein and Richard Virnig of Arlington Heights.

FAIRYTALE CASTLE — One of Denmark's most beautiful manor houses is Egeskov Castle, built around 1550 in Funen — just a few miles from the birthplace of Hans Christian Andersen — and "fairytale capital of the world."

It's A Fairytale Land

Island-Hopping In Denmark

by CLARE WRIGHT

The islands of Denmark are many and colorful but perhaps the most beautiful of them lie in an archipelago around the island of Funen.

Getting to Funen is half the fun. Most visitors to Denmark find themselves first in Copenhagen, and from there by rented car or express train is just a few hours, and crossing on the ferry from Sealand to fairytale Funen is something out of Brigadoon.

A stop in Funen's major city Odense, fairytale capital of the world, is a must not only for the orientation but for a glimpse of the childhood home of Hans Christian Andersen.

A few miles south of Odense is Egeskov Castle rising sheer out of a lake as in a Welsh legend. Stop for an hour or so and enjoy Egeskov's collection of antique cars and planes. The castle staff lays out a nice pastry spread these days, and it's fun to explore the grounds.

A TURN SOUTH brings one to the islands of Taasinge and a very charming street of whitewashed homes right out of a picture book. Taasinge boasts an old naval museum reminiscent of Denmark's maritime glory, and the docks along the waterfront are appropriately encrusted with old salts who embellish on the theme.

A nearby mill has converted its top story into a restaurant and the view for diners of the archipelago is impressive.

The island close by is Aero, where the entire hamlet of Aerokobing has been declared a national landmark, due to the excellent state of preservation of its centuries-old homes. Here the term 'quaint' is simply inadequate. The cute cobbles-tone lanes, and the tiny Hansel-Gretel homes — so tiny that a tall man can lean on the roof — make this village a jewel of make-believe.

Aerokobing is also happy to boast the world's largest collection of bottled models.

TO THE EAST, Langeland, literally "long island" with majestic Tranekaer Castle and park.

For a real taste of glory of the Denmark that once was, a stop at Nyborg is worthwhile. Nyborg is a modern town, still wearing the mantle of medieval splendor thanks to its castle. Oldest existing castle in Scandinavia, it was built in 1170 when Denmark's armies and navies ruled the Baltic, most of Scandinavia including half of Sweden, and her ships traded as far south as the Mediterranean.

Its modern shops, restaurants and inns are no better exemplified than in the Hotel Hesselet, a truly gracious hostelry. The clean, low-profile inn fronts a beautiful Japanese garden.

Nyborg was once Denmark's capital and the home of her Parliament. Here the royal and the famous from all over the Baltic gathered to pay homage to Danish might.

Funen really gets to some people, and the only way they can get right down to the land is to stay as a guest on a farm. There is no wall-to-wall carpeting or Musk, but the food and bed are good, the prices low, and the fun is sincere. Prices during the summer for room and three meals a day average six dollars, which seems cheaper than staying at home.

BUT SOME PEOPLE are roamers, not roomers, and the only way they get enough wind in their hair and mileage behind them is to peddle a bike all day. Thankfully, Denmark's gentle countryside and friendly folk make this as easy as a stroll down a country lane.

Bicycle tours abound in Denmark, for here was invented the first ready-made tour. They offer visits to manors, chats with friendly people, a swim and sunbath, a dewy lager, and an appetite which grows as the sun wanes and the friendly inn beckons. Danish bicycle tours are not group arrangements and one can choose the company he wishes.

One thing is certain: a bike or car trip through Funen and its sister islands reveals in detail that Hans Christian Andersen was not a romanticizer of myths and tales, but just an honest reporter.

TIME STANDS STILL in the quaint little towns of Denmark's island of Funen. Here the modern-day bike al-

A 'New Look'

A major refurbishing and modification program for its fleet of 315 standard-size jets has been undertaken by United Air Lines.

Planes are being completed on the average of two a week. United's "New Look" includes the use of bold, bright colors in fabrics, wall panels and rugs, enclosed overhead stowage compartments and increased spacing between seats.

United is modifying its exterior paint scheme for the entire fleet of 362 jets using larger lettering, adding four stars to both fuselage and tail, and is using a broader red stripe from tip to tail.

SAS Offers Gift Packages

Scandinavian Airlines is offering a wide range of seven to eight day gift packages for the fall and winter traveler. The short vacations cover many Scandinavian tourist points and are priced to suit every pocketbook.

All SAS packages are covered under three general programs: (1) SAS one week bargain tours (2) ski the uncrowded trails of Norway and (3) Scandinavian quickies.

In the bargain tours selections are Copenhagen packages with land costs from $70 to $150 per person. Departures are from Chicago every Saturday. Stockholm land costs are the same with Chicago departures every Saturday.

Combination city packages priced in the same range include Stockholm and Copenhagen or Oslo and Copenhagen, Copenhagen and London, Copenhagen and Amsterdam or Copenhagen and Madrid.

SKI THE UNCROWDED trails of Norway single or twin resort packages are offered at five Norwegian ski resort areas. Single resort packages to Voss-Geilo-Lillehammer-Beito and Tyn are all inclusively priced for the period between January 5 to February 4 starting at $305 to $341 depending on the resort. Prices are slightly higher from February 5 through March 31.

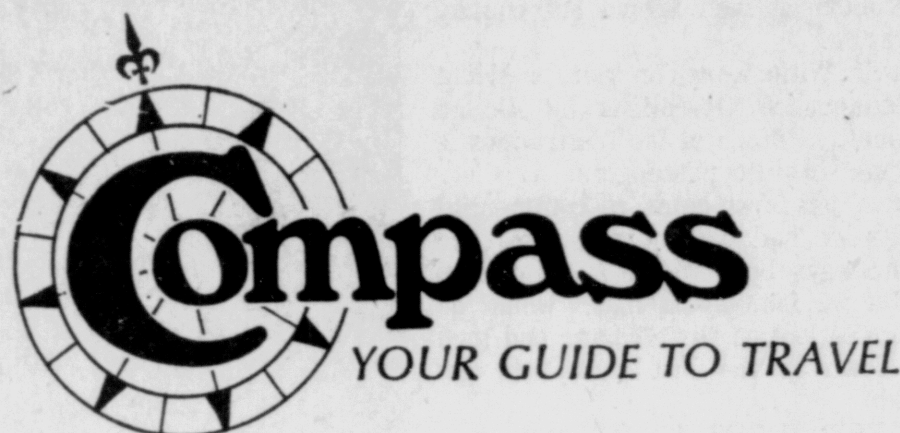

Twin resort packages at Voss and Geilo start at $432 per person and New York departures will be January 27, February 10, 24 and March 17 or 31. The Beito and Tyn twin packages are all inclusive from $492 per person from New York.

The Scandinavian quickies are available in eight one week single or dual city packages. A Copenhagen or Oslo package for seven nights all inclusive begins at $403, seven nights all inclusive in Stockholm from $409. Copenhagen/Amsterdam or Copenhagen/London or Copenhagen/Paris packages all inclusive with three nights in Copenhagen and four in the other city begin at $413. Three nights in Copenhagen and four in Stockholm is offered all inclusive from $419. A Copenhagen package includes three nights at a hotel and four nights at a guest house plus the use of a car with unlimited mileage for one week beginning at $403.

Scandinavian quickie departures from Chicago will be every Saturday beginning November 1 through March 31.

Further information can be obtained from your travel agent.

Air France Is Offering Sneak-A-Week Holidays

Travelers looking for an escape this fall and winter can now tip-toe into their travel agent's office and sign up for one of Air France's exclusive "Sneak-A-Week" holidays.

For $398 from Chicago, the illusive jet-setter can board an Air France 747, hide away in Paris for seven nights, drive incognito through the streets of Montmartre and break out just long enough to swing at a Parisian discotheque or the Folies Bergeres. For a few dollars more, the imaginative sneak can do the whole thing in Paris and London or Paris and Rome.

Theatre buffs can sneak in at least two shows and a gambling Casino in London on Air France's all-inclusive holiday package priced at $419 from Chicago.

For status sneakers with $419 in their pockets, there's a week on the French Riviera to check out the croupiers in Cannes or the sun-tan set in St. Tropez.

Further details on Air France's "Sneak-A-Week" holidays may be obtained from travel agents who escape to these places, too.

TRAVEL LORE

PHOENIX, Ariz. — When it comes to luxury in posh, relaxing settings it's hard to beat the special flair they have out here in the Valley of the Sun.

The emphasis is on elegance, comfort, good living and fine food. And why not? Some of the nation's most outstanding resorts and hotels are located here.

Though scattered around the area, most resorts are concentrated near Camelback Mountain in northeast Phoenix and Scottsdale.

While there is no such thing as a typical resort, the elegant layouts do have certain common features and characteristics. Among them are such facilities as golf courses, large heated swimming pools, arrangements for horseback riding, tennis courts, putting greens, relaxing cocktail lounges, entertainment and excellent dining rooms.

One of the most famous resorts in the area is Camelback Inn, a showplace of 65 acres of superbly landscaped gardens, lawns and stands of palms. The hotel's 285 rooms and duplex apartments are in adobe-style buildings scattered around the grounds.

Camelback has its own golf course, an 18-hole pitch-and-put course, three illuminated tennis courts, two year-round pools, and two whirlpool baths. There's also a Fountain of Youth Beauty and Health Salon, barber shop and gift shop — and "Hopalong College" for kids from five to 12.

When you stay at Camelback you're apt to bump into people like Hugh O'Brian, Dean Martin or Cary Grant. During the high season (mid-January to May 1) doubles are $40 and duplexes $125 on European plan — $66 to $151 on American.

The Inn has a special short stay plan that costs only $30.90 a night for two, and gives you a luxurious room, two cocktails, two dinners each, two breakfasts each, and free use of all facilities except the golf course. This plan is available for a minimum of three days, two nights, and is on a space available basis. We think it's a great idea for a last-minute "quickie" vacation.

Del Webb's Mountain Shadows is probably one of the swaggiest resorts in the valley. It's new and absolutely gorgeous. Peak season rates start at $31 for doubles and $29 for singles. Right now the rates are 40 per cent cheaper.

TWA offers a Golfers' Package at Mountain Shadows — seven days and six nights for $160.50 in the peak season — $100.50 during off season.

We'll always feel a bit sentimental about Paradise Inn since it was the first place we ever stayed in Arizona. It's a friendly, relaxing place, with an 18-hole golf course, three championship tennis courts, stables with good horses and cowboy guide-instructors.

There are also chuckwagon rides, morning breakfast rides and mountain-side evening steak fries.

Paradise Inn has American Plan rates only. During peak season doubles are $44 to $64 — singles $32 to $44. Off-season prices can be as low as $24 to $35.

Resort-type hotels are also among the deluxe operations in the Valley of the Sun. One major physical difference between these and resorts is generally larger, more unified structures rather than individual casas or cabanas. All resort hotels generally operate on the European plan — without meals included in the rate.

An exception is the fabulous Arizona Biltmore. They just add $14 per person to your tab if you want meals.

The Biltmore is in a class by itself. Name any famous person — government official, motion picture star, or tycoon — who has been to Phoenix in the last twenty years or so, and I'll wager they've stayed at the Biltmore more than once. It's got to be one of the top hotels in the world!

Naturally such extra-posh pampering comes at a bit high. Peak season rates are from $52 to $58 on the European plan — $66 to $72, American.

Another Valley favorite is the smaller guest lodge or inn, which accommodate fewer guests in more intimate, homey surroundings.

The small, quiet, Spanish-Mexican-Indian Hermosa Inn is an example. It only has 28 rooms but a lot of charm. Guest rooms are a series of adobe-like villas. Peak season rates are from $26.50 to $34 double.

Then there are the motor-hotels, many of which are found along the main stem of U.S. 60, 80, 89 on the east and west sides of Phoenix. The motel concept originated in Arizona, and Phoenix establishments have carried the idea to its epitome of luxury.

The largest and more elaborate ones (like the Executive House Arizona) are almost in the category of plush resort-hotels — but your travel agent can also tell you about attractive, budget-priced spots.

If you're traveling with your family you can get a good deal at the Paradise Valley Guest Ranch. A three-and-a-half room suite, with large bedrooms, living room, dining area, fully equipped kitchen and bath, with daily maid service, radio and color TV, costs only $22 a day.

The motel-ranch has a 50-foot heated pool, shuffleboard, table tennis, and beautiful gardens.

'Skifari' Tours Are Back Again

by Clare Wright,
TRAVEL EDITOR

Air Canada's "Skifari" winter tours to Western Canada are back this year — with some bright new attractions and lower rates.

The Skifari package has been expanded this year to include tours to Whistler Mountain in Garibaldi National Park, British Columbia. Featured again are tours to the Mount Norquay, Sunshine and Lake Louise ski areas in Banff and Jasper National parks in Alberta.

Developed by Air Canada in cooperation with the Canadian Government Travel Bureau and the Province of Alberta, the Skifari tours basically consist of all-inclusive rates covering round-trip economy air fare to Calgary, Edmonton and Vancouver, ground transportation to the resort areas for a minimum six nights of accommodation. In addition, a new aspect of the Skifari plan offers condominium-type accommodation at Lake Louise and Whistler Mountain, car rental at Vancouver and Calgary to reach the two resorts and a plan under which skiers will be able to divide their time between resorts and ski areas in Jasper and Banff.

The Skifari package is effective November 18 to May 21.

Under the all-inclusive rate, Skifari vacations to ski areas in Banff and Jasper National Parks include six nights accommodation, ground transportation between Calgary and Edmonton airports and the ski area, breakfast daily and ski lift passes for five days. One aspect of the package applies to skiers traveling via Edmonton and allows for three days skiing at Jasper and two days at Banff. The package is available as low as $260 from Chicago.

Under the special package, a seven-day tour to Lake Louise features condominium-type accommodation at the King's Domain and a rented car at Calgary for prices beginning at $272 from Chicago. The special package to Whistler Mountain features similar accommodation at Adventure West, including a rented car at Vancouver airport for $300 from Chicago.

Greenfield Village Recreates Past

DEARBORN, Mich. — A facet of American life from the past will be recreated Oct. 21 and 22, when Greenfield Village presents its first annual Autumn Harvest Weekend.

Joining the ranks of such Greenfield favorites as the Old Car Festival, the Muzzle Loaders Festival and the County Fair of Yesteryear, the event will recall the festivities in rural communities a century and more ago to celebrate the harvest season.

Activities include demonstrations of Farm chores done as they used to be with steam engines. Authentic old traction engines will thresh grain, saw wood, and do other chores to show how early farmers prepared for winter. On Saturday there will be a pony pulling contest in which teams of these sturdy little animals will compete by pulling drays loaded with many times their own weight.

There will be a horse show on Sunday reminiscent of the kind staged by local farmers to show off the breeding and training of their animals. Another of Sunday's highlights will be the firemen's muster complete with antique fire engines — both horse-drawn and automotive.

ATHENIAN QUICKIES

Olympic Airways have designed a series of seven and eight-day winter GIT tours for the traveler with a limited amount of vacation time.

The "Athenian Quickies" will depart every Saturday night from Nov. 4 to March 31, excluding the period from Dec. 16 to Dec. 30.

The five tours include A Week in Sunny Greece, A Week On Wheels in Greece, A Week in Athens and London, A Week in Paris and Athens, and A Week in Athens and Rome.

Prices are as low as $520 from Chicago (based on a minimum of ten passengers), and this includes round-trip air transportation, transfers to and from Athens' hotels, hotel service charges and taxes, twin-bedded accommodations, and continental breakfast — plus many extra features.

Northwest suburban travel agents have all details.

HOW ABOUT A "DREAMBOAT?"
Any motorist can pilot one of the 32-foot houseboats being offered for rent in Miami Beach, Fla.

In cooperation with the Sheraton Beach Resort, Rent-A-Cruise of America is already renting four of these Explorer X houseboats and plans to increase their fleet to 10 crafts by Christmas.

Designed with the landlubber-driver in mind, the "dreamboats" have a single lever control system that can make any auto driver a sea-faring captain of a floating home that sleeps up to six persons comfortably in air-conditioned comfort.

The Explorer X Craft is available for rental on a four weekday; three day weekend; full seven day week; or limited daily basis.

For information, talk to your travel agent, or call "Captain Walt" collect (305) 940-1264.

TRAVEL-ADVENTURE SERIES

The 1972-73 season of the Travel-Adventure Series will open Oct. 17, at the Barrington Consolidated High School auditorium, with Hugh Pope and "Ecuador and Darwin's Galapagos."

The movies will be held monthly, October through April, on Tuesday evenings at 8 p.m.

On Nov. 14, John Nicholls Booth will trace the travels of one of America's loved personalities in the film, "The Amazing America of Will Rogers."

Fran William Hall's "Four Faces of Southeast Asia" explores the countries and people of Cambodia, Burma, Thailand and Malaysia, Dec. 12.

The series continues Jan. 9, with Aubert Lavastida and "Delightful Denmark;" Feb. 6, with Raphael Green and "Into Siberia;" March 13, with Renee Taylor's film, "Shangri-La . . . Where People Live to be 100" — and Robert Davis and "Britain's Holiday Island" on April 3.

Behind The Scenes But Vital

THEY'RE OUT OF the limelight. They almost never get their names into print or on the public address. Most of the time, fans don't even give them a thought.

They don't mind because they're not working for headlines. In fact, it's just the opposite. Yet, despite the lack of attention for them, their services are vital to every athletic team.

Who are they? Trainers. Those guys in white uniforms with black bags who are always there, at every football and basketball game, ready to spring to the aid of a fallen victim at any moment with no warning.

You hardly ever notice them . . . unless misfortune does strike. Then you'll see them bent over the wounded, having to think and act quickly.

They're like referees in one sense — the less they're noticed, the better. But without them there could be none of the athletic programs which are such a valuable part of our schools' curriculums.

Like many fans, I knew little about what trainers think and do routinely until talking with a couple of them. They're among the best on the local prep scene — one a seasoned veteran, the other a young up-and-comer. The former is Jim Sheehan of Arlington, the latter Ron Freeman of Forest View.

Sheehan is in his 20th year of training, his 10th at Arlington. He started as a basketball and track coach and got into training at the University of Colorado. Eventually, a conflict of interests no longer allowed him enough time to coach too. He has taught history throughout his career.

Freeman began training eight years ago as a senior in high school. This is only his second year at Forest View but his fine background includes having trained for the college football all-stars in their annual battle with the professional champions. Freeman formerly taught at Northwestern U. and teaches physical education and first aid at Forest View.

Like all prep trainers, these men generously donate many hours of their own time each week to help kids. Training is an extra-curricular activity, but they must be on hand from well before every practice until well after — as well as for all varsity games. The same is true for student trainers.

Preparing boys to play is the major part of their task. Not that injury treatments aren't awfully important too. But as Freeman said, "Our number one goal is definitely to prevent injuries. We do it by padding, taping and having coaches put kids through exercises to strengthen specific parts of their bodies.

"For instance, we keep records on every injury and treatment. If there is a rash of knee injuries, we work harder on building up legs. In the last few years coaches have been teaching boys to hit with their heads — which is fine if they do it right. But sometimes they don't, so we've been having more head injuries in recent years where it used to be shoulder injuries. Now we have special neck exercises."

A good number of injuries can be avoided with the right preparation. Sheehan says, "We try to get all the varsity kids to take their ankles before every game in football and basketball. We help them with individual problems. Then we have special preparation for chronic injuries so they won't recur. There are usually 10 or 12 of those on every team."

As Freeman points out, "Because of the nature of football, you're always going to have injuries, no matter what. But there are a lot less if you do the right things. Since I've been here (a season and a half), we've only lost one kid because of a certain injury — Rick Mirro this year because of a knee. I'm sure it's because we get kids completely ready to play that we haven't had more."

Sheehan said that of all Arlington football squads on all levels — perhaps 200 boys in all — an average of only about three boys a year are hurt seriously enough to miss the rest of the season. One and a half per cent isn't bad.

The two feel, as every trainer probably does, that conditioning is invaluable in keeping everyone healthy and intact. "We take pride in it here (at Arlington) and it's something Mr. (Bob) Walther always stresses," says Sheehan.

"That's the whole key," says Freeman of conditioning. "The relationship between the coaches and trainer helps here. I think it's one reason we've been so successful the last two years."

Neither Sheehan nor Freeman feels injuries have become any more severe or frequent in recent years in high school ball as they have in the pros — even though players may be getting bigger and faster all the time. Sheehan suggested that "physicians may be more cautious than a few years ago."

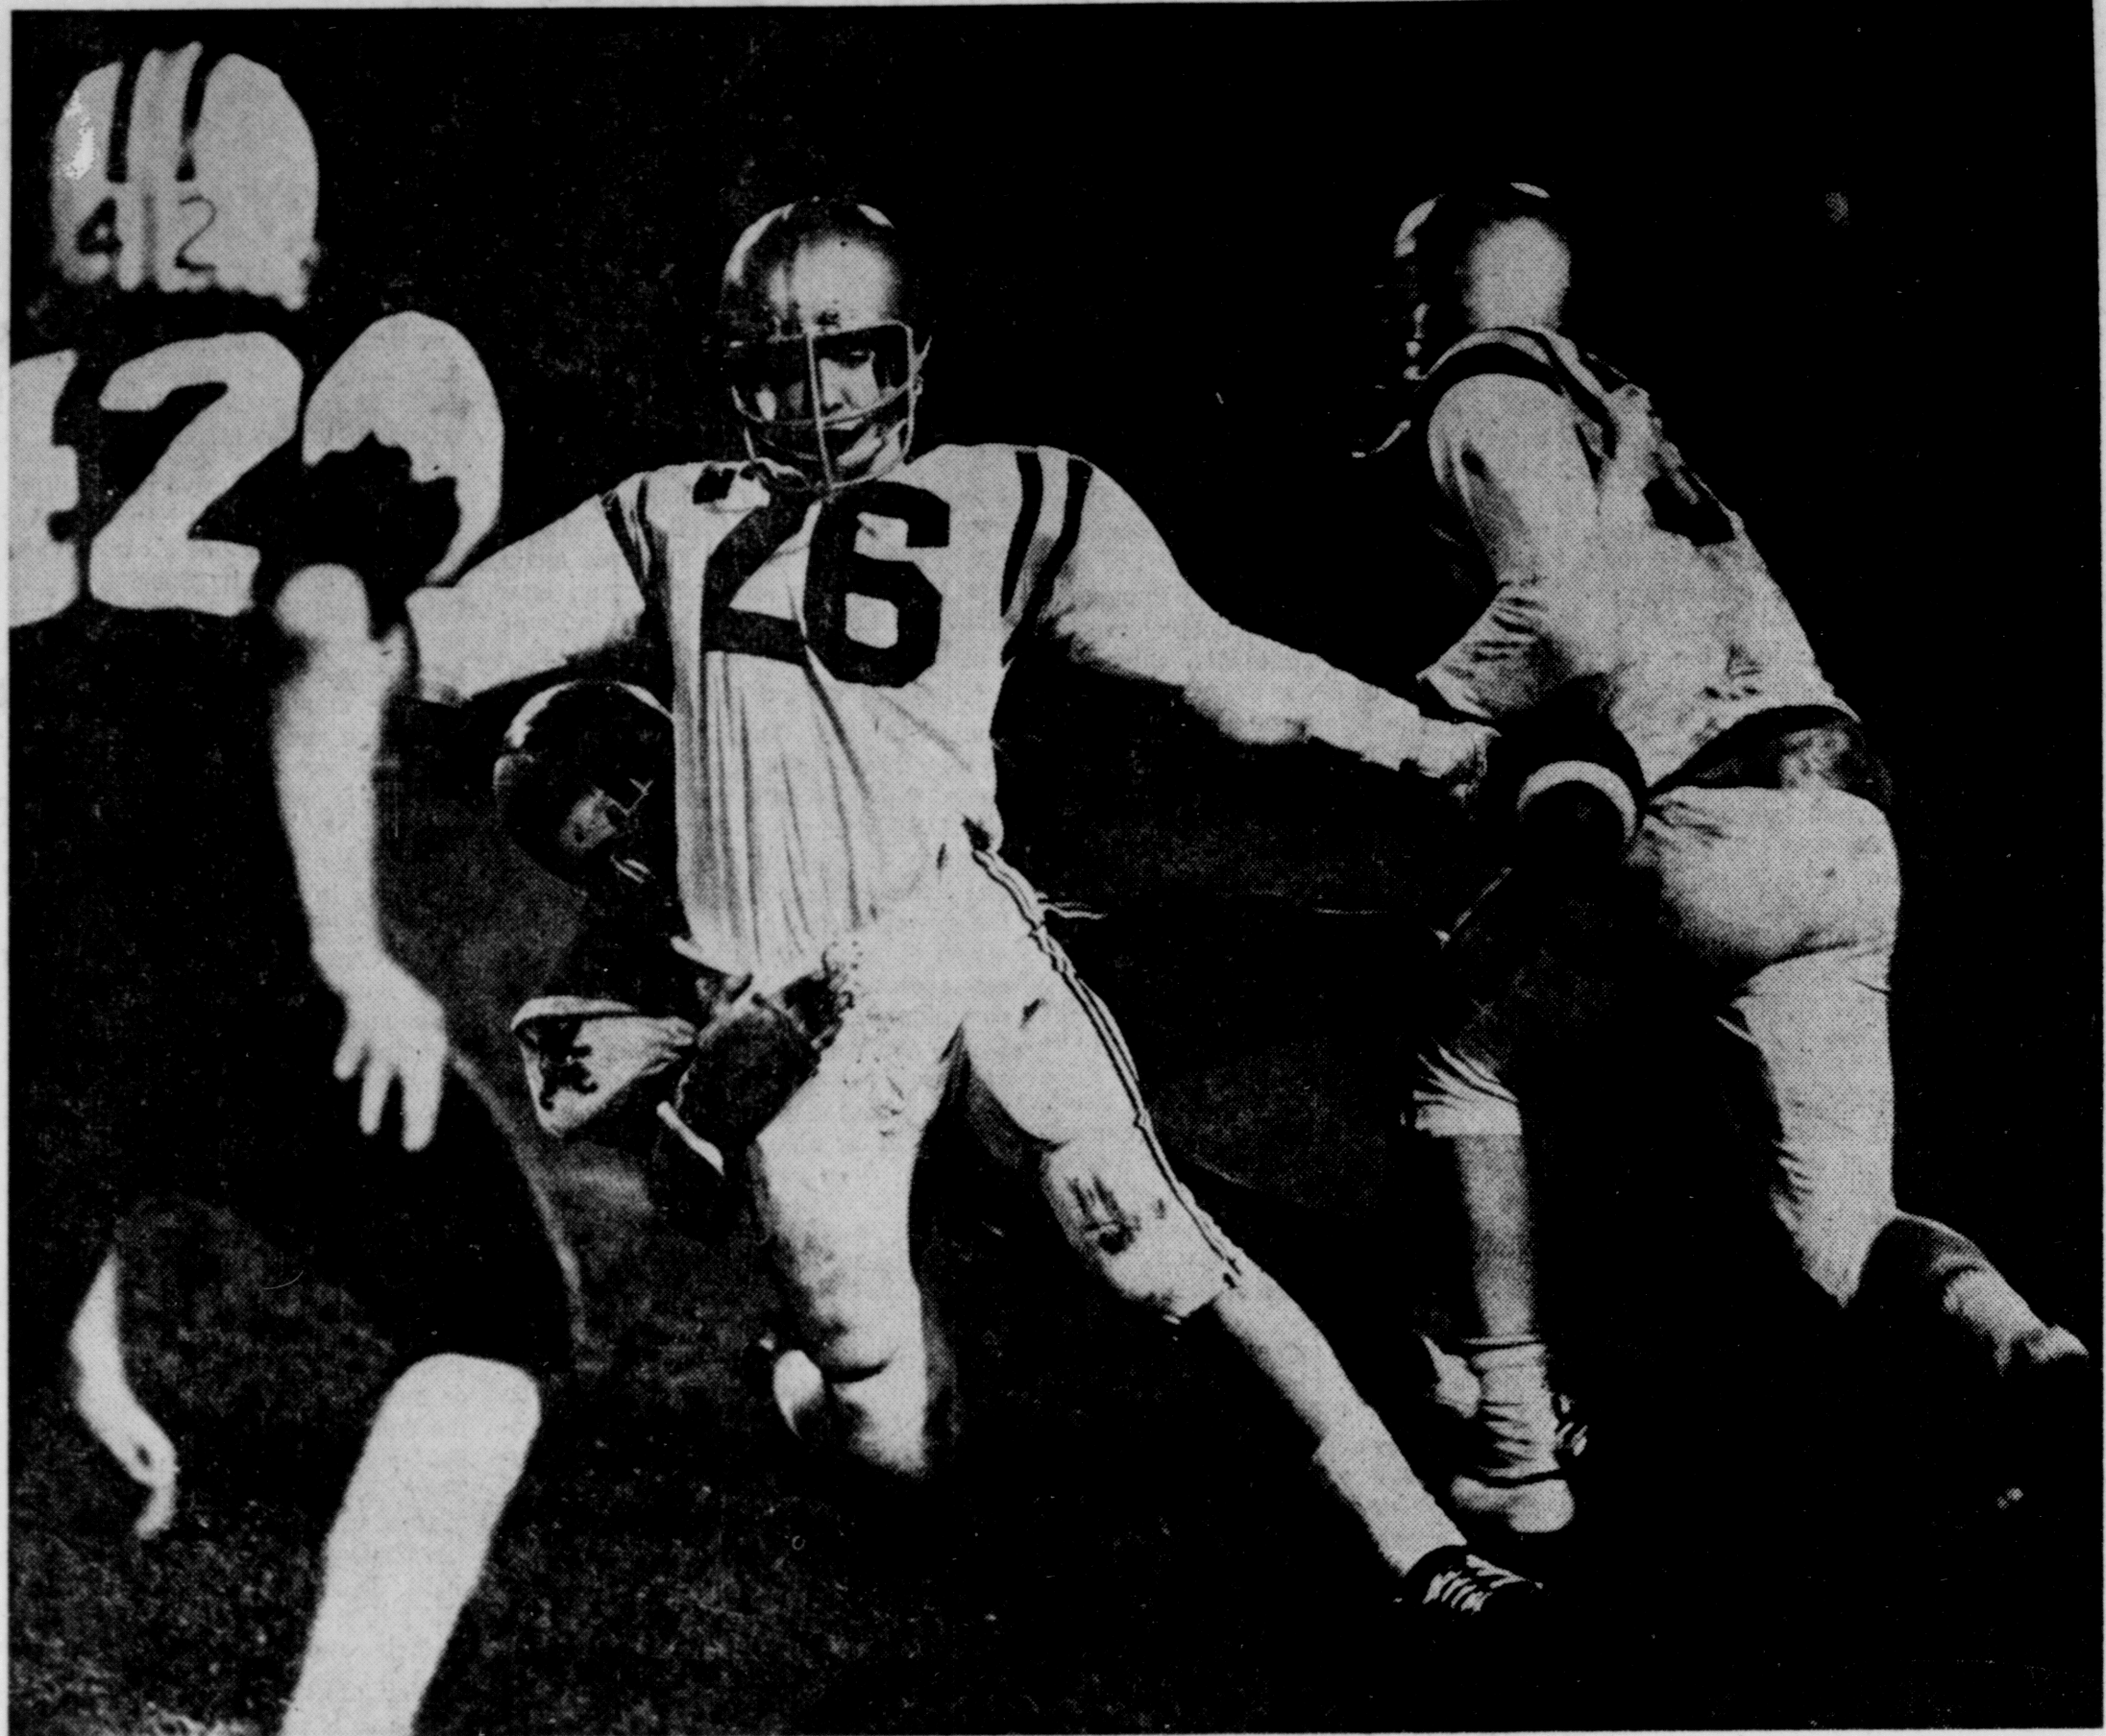

Freeman said that injuries may "increase in some areas but decrease in others. It depends on how coaching techniques and equipment change."

What do these men get out of training for all they put into it?

"The association with kids and coaches, and seeing the good things that come out of sports" is what makes it all worthwhile to Sheehan.

Freeman added that "my greatest satisfaction is helping a kid get back to 100 per cent after he has been hurt. This is part of our job. We want to help guys all we can, not just push them aside and ignore them if they're too injured to play — which they actually do at some schools. It's unbelievable how many you can bring completely back after you think they're done."

He summed up the whole business by saying, "We (trainers) work behind the scenes but there's no one more important to the team."

REVERSE BACKFIRES. A charging, fired-up St. Viator defense forces this fumble on a reverse attempt by St. Patrick's Keenan Moran (26). The ball bounced into and out of the end zone for a safety. Moving in on defense is the Lions' Dan Andjeski. St. Viator won, 29-7.

Weekend Cross Country Roundup

Vikings, Cards Impress In Peoria Invite

by LARRY EVERHART
Cross Country Editor

Six Mid-Suburban League teams ventured out of the area again Saturday for four different invitationals and once again, the results were impressive.

The MSL hit the cycle, as it were, with a first, second, third and fourth at scattered sites, two of which were downstate, Hersey, Fremd, Palatine and Arlington all made the league look good with solid team showings.

The league swings back into a full slate of six dual meets this afternoon with lower-level action starting at 4:30 and varsity at about 5:30.

Weekend results:

VIKINGS, ARLINGTON IMPRESS

Even though the Peoria Invitational was the first meet of any kind Fremd has entered but not won this year, it was one of the Vikings' best — if not their best — showing of the season. They took second place in the "little state meet" behind top-ranked York and beat which had been rated ahead of them, Maine East.

York, with an almost unbelievably close spread for a race with 300 runners from 44 schools, had an astonishing total of 43 to Fremd's 129 and Maine East's 161. The Dukes drew raves with five runners in the top 11 and a span of only 14 seconds.

Arlington also did itself proud with fourth place on a total of 247. The Cardinals beat out a team that had been rated fifth in the state, Peoria Central, which was only eighth.

Fremd coach Ron Menely said his team "did a real fine job" and added that "it wasn't as big a runaway as the point totals would indicate. We were about 10 seconds behind them on the average. There might be hope for us even though York looks invincible right now."

Paul Sewell of Rockford Guilford, tabbed as one of the state's best, was the individual winner in 14:28.7 for three full miles. As impressive as that time is, it did not approach the course record of 13:59 by Craig Virgin of Lebanon, last year's state track double winner.

Jamie Olson led Fremd with 15:10 for 15th place and mate Steve Inbody was a second behind. Chuck Ruppenthal was 22nd with 15:17, Mike Rohrer 32nd with 15:27, Jim Galis 43rd with 15:39, John Miller 55th with 15:44 and Ken Geheb 95th.

Arlington was paced by Neil Haseman with 24th, while Bill Schmidt was 29th, Tom Holub 45th, John Lerchenfeld 70th, Dave Jenkins 79th, Mike Haseman 87th and Bob Skolnik 88th. In league action today Fremd hosts Conant along with Maine West and Arlington is at Prospect.

HUSKIES TAKE TITLE

Hersey claimed first place in the 15-team Niles East Invitational without a serious challenge. The Huskies of coach Larry Travis — with the winning runner and four of the top 10 — had just 38 points total to easily outdistance second-place Waukegan (109) and Niles West (110).

Jay McCarthy, only a sophomore, continued his standout season against older competition by taking the individual crown in a fine 13:43 over 2.75 miles. His time was 15 seconds better than the winning time in last year's meet and just three seconds off the course record.

Other Hersey times also were better than those in the same places in this meet last year. John Jones took seventh place with 14:11, Ron Stephani was eighth with 14:14, Dan Leider 10th with 14:16, Tom Burridge 12th with 14:25, Chris Cooney 19th with 14:37 and Tom Mogee 29th with 14:55.

There were also two lower level races held with the Huskie freshmen taking second, led by Craig Hanssen's 10th place, and the sophs fifth, paced by Henry Regard's eighth.

Hersey is at Elk Grove in league action this afternoon.

PIRATES RUN WELL, MUSTANGS 21st

Palatine did a fine job in the big, 51-team Crete-Monee Invitational with third place overall. Riverside-Brookfield, which has been ranked in the state's top five all fall, was champion and Naperville was second.

The meet is annually held in a unique manner with seven separate races. Each school designates runners in order from No. 1 through 7. All No. 1's run against one another, all No. 2's, etc.

Scott Williams was the Pirates' first-flight man and he finished a strong second with 14:53, trailing only Gary Unger of Riverside-Brookfield. The second through seventh men, in the following order, finished thusly: Dave Tehle seventh with 15:37, Paul Kearns fourth with 15:44, Bill O'Neill fifth with 16:16, Carl Kiewert second with 15:55, John Thullen second with 16:11 and Rick Scholl eighth with 16:43.

Rolling Meadows was 21st for one of its best showings as Rich Jensen, running in the first flight, took 20th against a big field of tough competition.

Other Mustangs and their finishes, in order from No. 2 through No. 7, were: John Kreutzer, 24th; Jerry Porters, 19th; Mike Suerth, 36th; Craig Dahlquist, 34th; Jim Conroy, 15th; and Jim Huddleston, 12th.

Palatine is at Glenbard North and Rolling Meadows at Wheeling in today's MSL competition.

GRENADIERS SEVENTH

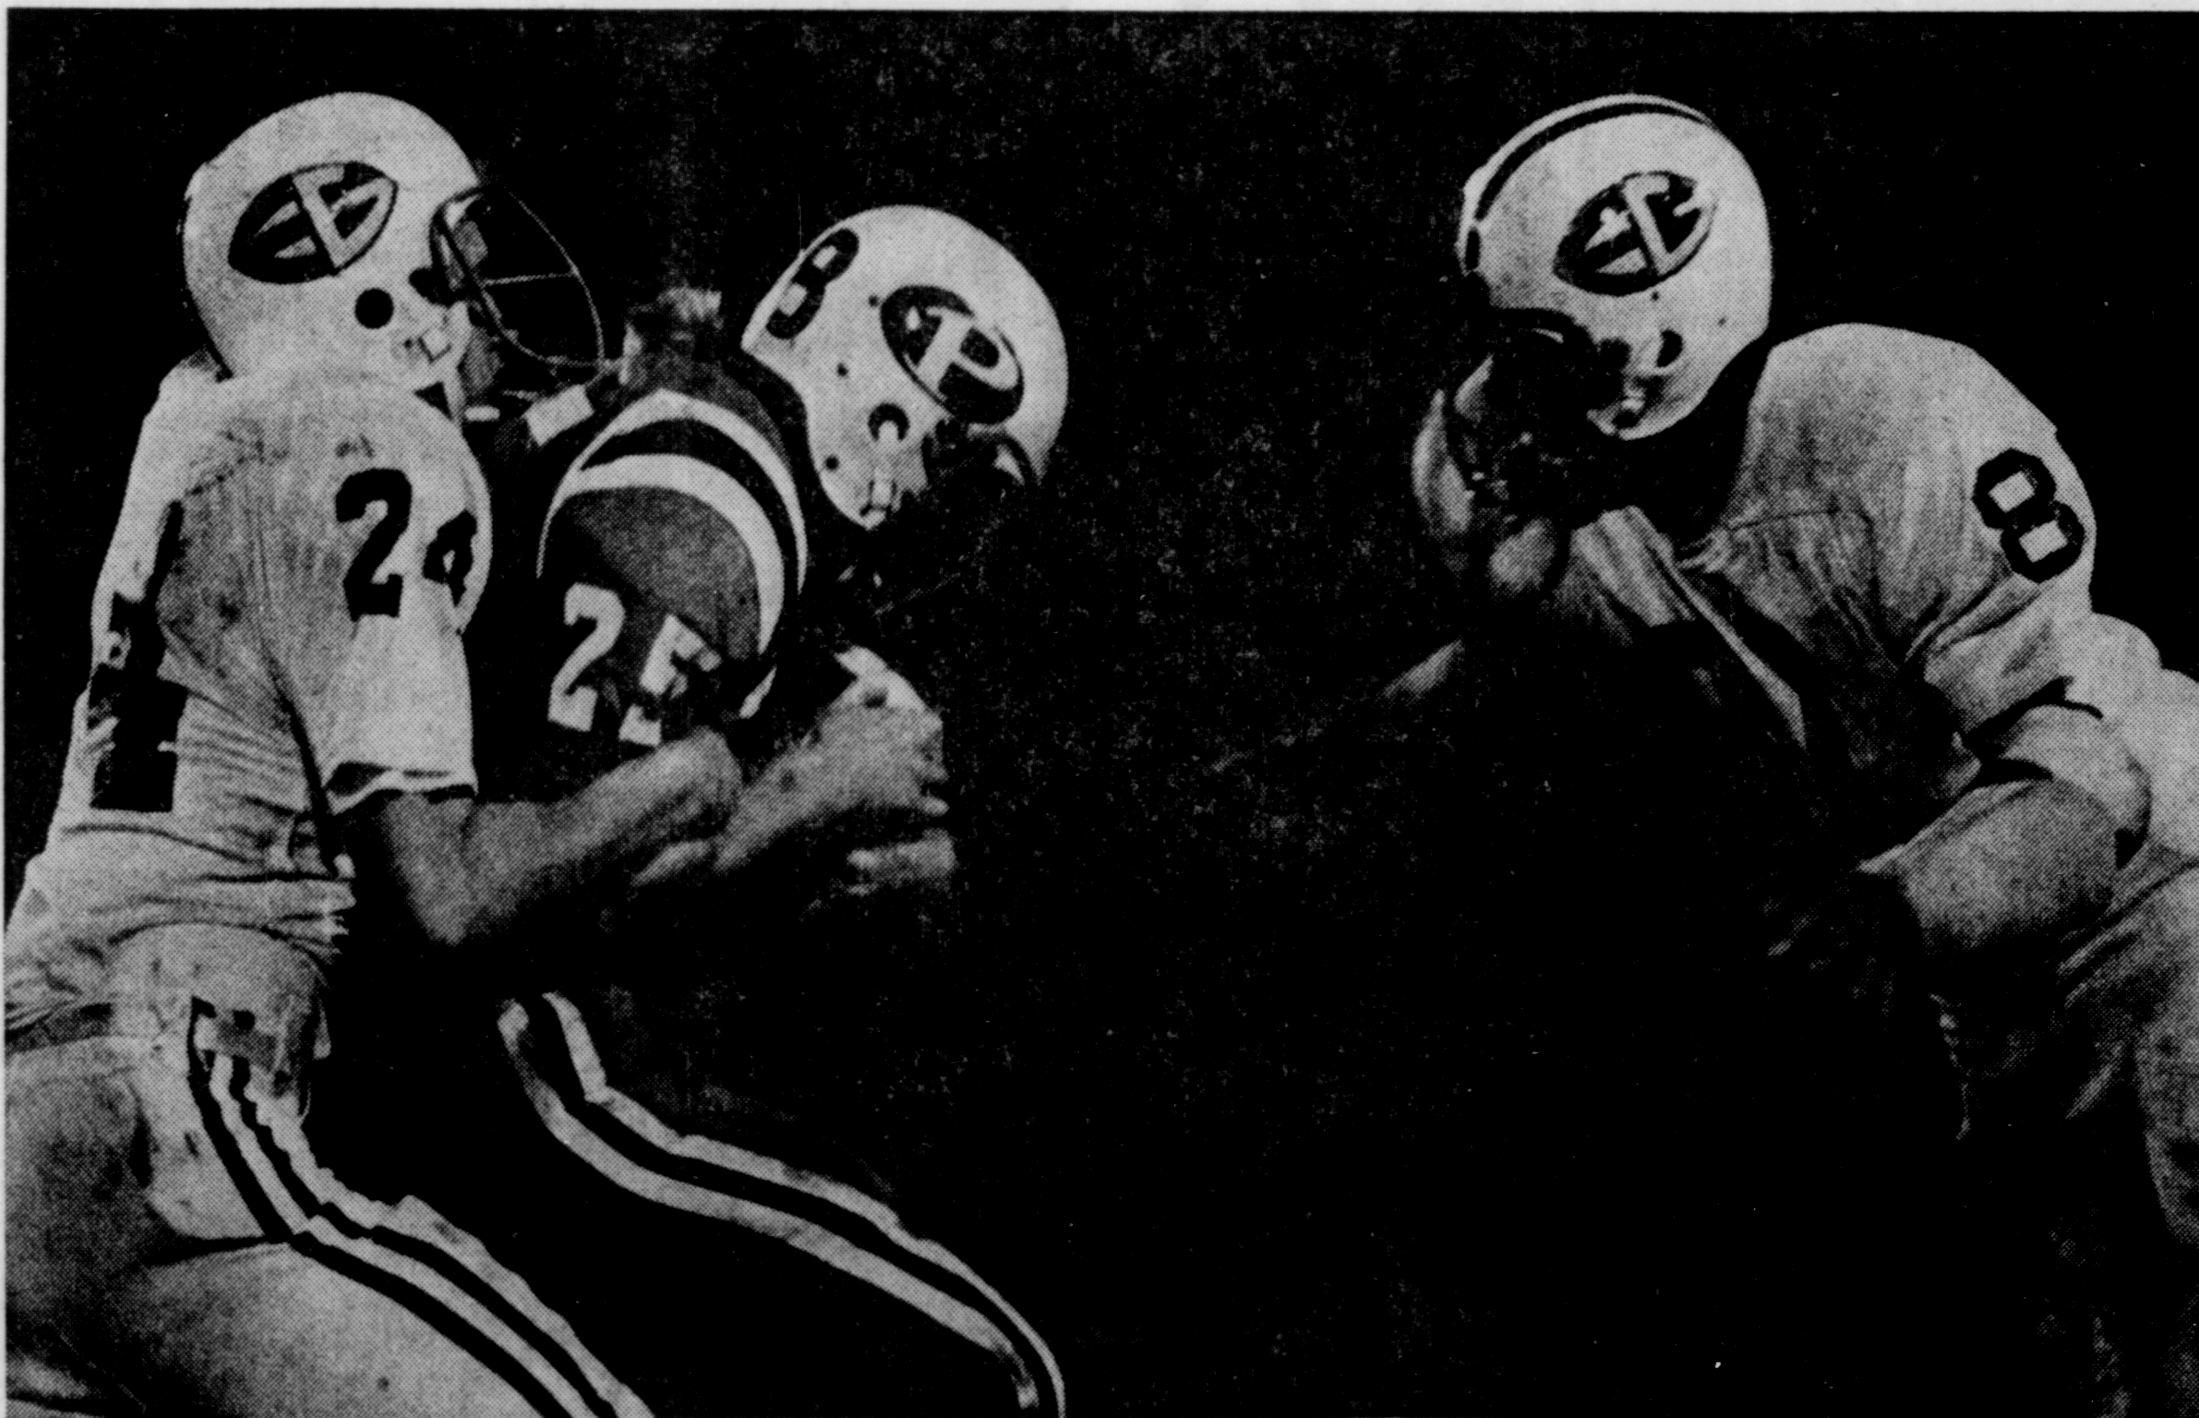

Elk Grove finished seventh in a 20-team field at the Ridgewood Invitational with Brian Powell leading the way with sixth place. His time was 15:27.

Damian Archbold took 33rd, Dave Dill 41st, Dave Jackson 42nd and Paul Butchard 60th for the other Grenadier finishes.

The Grenadiers will host Hersey in a Mid-Suburban League dual Tuesday.

THE BEST IN Sports

THE AFTERMATH of a pass catch is what waits for Prospect receiver Gary Rung (25) who is being held in position by Elk Grove's Don Weadley while Frank Bavaro rushes in to apply the clincher. Rung's reception from quarterback Scott Gear ate up 40 yards and was the key play in the Knights' fourth-quarter touchdown drive. Elk Grove won 22-6.

Stealer Wheeler

Whoever said that good defense is sometimes the best offense must have known Big Ten-ers Coots Cunningham, Clark Sauer and Buell Hutchinson personally.

This trio's speciality was intercepting passes and then adding electrifying run-backs. Sauer, during his two-year stint with Chicago, pilfered a pass against Northwestern on October 22, 1910 and scampered 105 yards with it. Proving it was no fluke, Sauer returned one year later and snagged an Indiana aerial and duplicated the incredible 105-yard jaunt.

Cunningham earned his way into the record book with still another 105-yard interception against Purdue in 1907 and just a week later returned one for 100 yards against Illinois.

Hutchinson provided all of his heroics in a single game against Northwestern in 1919. His initial steal went for 103 yards while he later picked off a NU throw and scampered 100 yards later in the contest.

Elk Grove Boys Football

Community League Results

Jets Blast by Queen of the Rosary
An outstanding job of blocking by the offensive line was the key factor in the Jets' 26-0 victory, along with several key blocks by Keith Carman coming out of the backfield.

Tom Eannarino put the Jets on the scoreboard in the first period with a six-yard plunge over right guard. Chris Mergle scored the point after with a quarterback sneak.

Dean Crivellaro sparked the offense in the second period with an off-tackle run of 27 yards down to the 10-yard line. Two plays later he went over left guard for six yards and a touchdown.

In the third quarter, Brian Basik scampered 30 yards for a touchdown on a triple reverse. The last play of the game saw Chris Mergle bootleg around left end for 47 yards and a touchdown.

In defeat Joe Springate played a strong defensive game. Jim Kinn had a good afternoon at running back with several fine runs, topping off his afternoon with a 15 yard run for a touchdown on a reverse. Joe Schmidt's excellent blocking enabled Bob Miller to get off several long punts.

Bears over 49ers, 13-6
The Elk Grove Bears defeated the 49ers in a hard fought game. The 49ers led off the scoring on a 40-yard run by Joe Martin, but missed the extra point. The Bears didn't get into the scoreboard until the second half when Tom Yohe intercepted a 40er pass and ran it back 30 yards to the 49ers three yard line.

From there, Jeff Smith plunged off tackle for the touchdown, with Yohe carrying the extra point. In the 2nd Bear TD came on a sweep by Yohe after a sustained drive in which Chris Symes and Jeff Hildebrandt ran the ball for good yardage. Defensively, the Bears got good performances from safety Mike Ogurek, Tony Bria, and front wall men Rob Replogle, Craig Smith, Scott Gauger, Jim Marceau, and Tim Donahue.

The 49ers who shone on defense were Dan Yohe, Mike Bartlett, Pat Kelly, Mike Meyer, Tim Kane, and Rick Skarda.

The Bears remain in first place with a record of 4-0-1.

Packers Fly by Eagles, 19-0

The Packers showed their all-round power by beating the Eagles 19-0. The first TD came on a 30-yard end run by Jay Evans. The offensive line blocking of Don Swiglo, Scott Kushino, Jeff Edwards, and Mark Piniato was at its best. The second TD was made on a 55-yard punt return by Jay Evans. Jay made the extra point good on a three-yard run. A blocked punt in the end zone with a recovery by Griff Morkel was the third TD. The fine defensive play of Dave Harvey, Quinn Heath, and Mark Lorch helped stop the Eagles from scoring. Mark Lorch dumped the Eagle quarterback six times. The fine running combination of the Eagles' Jim Pritz and Chuck Peterson was held back by the tough Packer defense.

Fox Valley Traveling League

Elk Grove Warriors Tie Naperville
The Elk Grove Warriors, the North Division leader, met the Naperville Packers, the South Division Leader, at Brantwood Park. Both teams played an even ball game with neither team getting inside the other's 20 yard-line in a 0-0 tie.

The fine backfield of Dave Sargent - quarterback, Joe Fellebach - fullback, Dan Schmid - R.H., and Bob Hamilton - L.H. just couldn't make pay dirt.

This was one of the best defensive games played so far this year as the Warriors held a strong team scoreless. The credit goes to Jim Batzkall, Jim Elsen, Tim Schwenzer, and Mark Angeliotti.

Elk Grove Chiefs Lose to Naperville

The Chiefs lost a close game to the Naperville Redskins. The 12 points for the Chiefs came on a 20-yard keeper by Quarterback Jeff Basik and a quarterback pitch by Basik to halfback Tim Roberts for a 73 yard run.

The fine defensive play of Mike Sargent, Tom Butterfield, and Jim Meyer helped contain the strong running attack of the Redskins.

Lions Win Dual; 12th In Invitational Event

The St. Viator cross country story last weekend was much the same as it has been all season.

That meant Bill Ellsworth provided the Lions highlights and the team enjoyed dual-meet running but not invitational competition.

Ellsworth turned in two more fine performances as the Lions easily downed Holy Cross, 19-42, in a Suburban Catholic Conference dual before falling to 12th place in the 14-team Niles East Invitational.

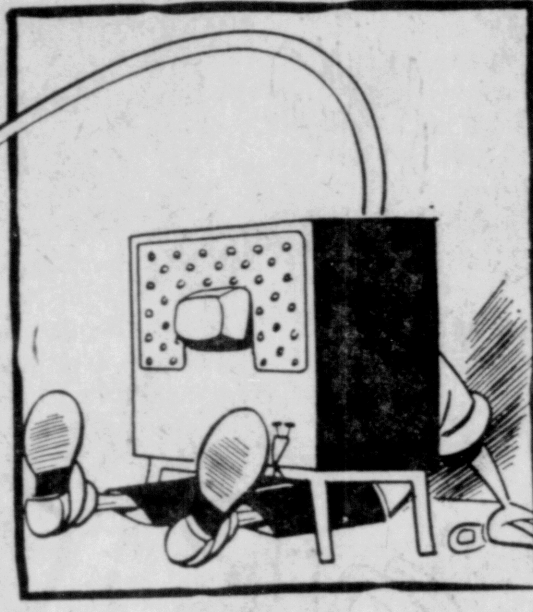

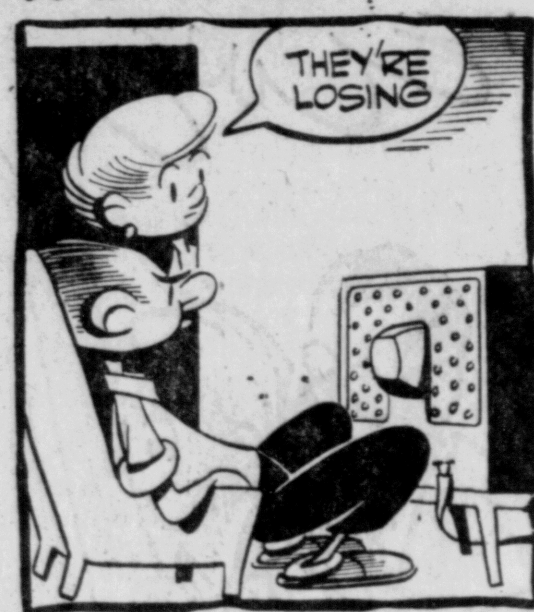

St. Viator had no problem against hosting Holy Cross at Schiller Woods over a three-mile course as Ellsworth remained undefeated in conference action with a 16:02 winning time.

After yielding second place, the Lions paraded the next five straight runners into the chute — Mark Nelles (the school's best sophomore elevated to the varsity for this meet) with 16:42 for third place, Bob Kohn with 16:45, Kevin Mooney with 17:07, Tom Orrell with 17:22 and Mike Chmela with 17:37.

The frosh-soph Lions beat Holy Cross just as easily, 20-43, as freshman Tim Hendricks led with 18:27 for three miles.

In the big meet at Niles East, Ellsworth was a strong third with a time just over 14 minutes for 2.75 miles. Hersey was a runaway winner (details are in a separate story).

FAN FARE

Catcher Offers Unique View Of Babe Ruth

WEST FRANKFORT, ILL. UPI — Any genuine baseball fan knows that Babe Ruth hit his 60th home run off pitcher Tom Zachary of the Washington Senators.

But who remembers Bennie Tate, the Senators' catcher of that day 45 years ago, on Sept. 30, 1927?

Bennett "Bennie" Tate doesn't remember the pitch he called for or whatever it was that Zachary threw. It never reached his mitt, but he remembers clearly where it would up.

"It went about half way up in the rightfield stands. It would have been a home run anywhere," Tate said.

The place was Yankee Stadium. On the mound for the Washington Senators was Zachary, a southpaw, and behind the plate was Tate. The man in between with the menacing bat was George Herman "Babe" Ruth and the shot he hit was his 60th home run of the season.

That record still stands for a 154-game season, although Roger Maris of the Yanks clouted 61 in 1961 in an expanded season.

"We didn't think too much about it at the time," said Tate. "We thought he would probably beat 60 later."

After all, hitting homers was not uncommon to Babe. He hit 54 in 1920, 59 in 1921, 41 in 1923, 46 in 1924 and 47 in 1926. After 1927, he hit 54 in 1928, 46 in 1929, 49 in 1930 and tied teammate Lou Gehrig with 46 in 1931.

"We usually tried to crowd Babe and then come back outside with a breaking ball," said Tate. "Zachary had a good breaking knuckleball."

"I would estimate that Babe would hit 15 to 20 more home runs a year with today's ball. He didn't hit too many cheap shots. But I remember one year near the end of the season when he was contending for the batting title and the third baseman was playing in. Babe was just trying to punch it into leftfield past the third baseman and punched it into the leftfield stands."

Ruth led the league in homers 12 times, had 15 grand slams and wound up with a career batting average of .342. His career homer total of 714 still stands as a record. But drawing close to the mark is Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves who swatted his 673rd Tuesday night.

"I've never seen this Aaronfellow play, but I guess he has a chance of catching the Babe," said Tate. "I don't think that anyone who saw the Babe play would ever concede that a greater home run hitter ever lived."

For Tate, 70, known for his defensive abilities rather than his stickwork, keeping track of homeruns was a one hand job. He was with the Senators from 1924 to June, 1930, and later saw service with the Chicago White Sox, Boston Red Sox and Chicago Cubs.

"I had four career homers — one in Sportsman's Park in St. Louis, two in Fenway Park in Boston and an inside-the-park homer in Griffith Stadium in Washington," Tate said.

"Owner Clark Griffith ran out and got the ball, autographed it and gave it to me."

Business Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 200 university business schools in America are facing problems in the years immediately ahead that many of their administrators barely understand.

The demands on them will be terrific, according to President Robert G. Cox of Lincoln National Bank & Trust Co. of New York and Dr. Andrew F. Brimmer, a member of the Federal Reserve Board. They will have to turn out managers ready to take top responsibility at a younger age than is customary, and these managers will have to be more flexible, more general in outlook and more innovative.

Conclusions of the two experts are presented in two articles in the Wharton Quarterly published by the University of Pennsylvania's business school.

Brimmer deals with the long-term demand for executives in all sections of the American economy, while Cox discusses the problems the university business schools are up against in meeting these demands.

COX POINTS OUT that with few exceptions, university business schools are now only about 20 years old, yet already they are caught up in many of the shackles of the academic world and the faculty tenure system.

Cox says university business courses at best often have been overspecialized, turning out accountants, money managers, marketing men, real estate men or insurance men rather than executives prepared to undertake broad assignments. Moreover, says Cox, many courses offered in graduate business schools are identical with courses offered at the undergraduate level, so the MBA degree frequently doesn't mean what it should.

The New York banker also said it is impossible to set standards in business school courses as in the sciences and humanities. Business changes too fast. Cox cited studies sponsored by the Carnegie Fund and the Ford Foundation to back up his views.

FINALLY, HE SAID, faculty tenure, so valuable in the rest of the academic world, can almost defeat the purpose of the business school because "it has the unfortunate side effect of protecting academic inadequacy and obsolescence."

He said the only practical solution to the tenure problem would be some form of "mandatory sabbatical leave," compelling the tenured professor to engage in periodic activities to rekindle himself toward a more dynamic approach to his job.

Brimmer warned business school students the opportunities for self-employment will diminish in the years ahead and the mix in executive demand will change somewhat.

He said about 11 million managers — one million more than at present — will be needed in 1980, but this will be a slightly smaller percentage of all employed persons than the present level.

Social Security Accounts Should Be Checked; CPA

Although Social Security taxes take 5.2 per cent of the first $9,000 of all wages and salaries (plus employers' matching contributions), few of the tens of millions of persons affected ever bother to make sure that this money set aside for their future has been credited to their account.

There are several reasons for checking periodically on one's Social Security account, according to Glenn Ingram Jr., president, Illinois CPA Society.

One is that the Social Security system is a mammoth operation involving approximately 200 million records, in which occasional errors are inevitable. If such errors go undetected for more than 39½ months they may not be correctable; amounts that should have been credited to an account are lost, with possible adverse effects on the benefits that will be paid in the future. The danger of error is even more likely where people change jobs frequently.

The Social Security Administration recommends that persons paying Social Security taxes check on their accounts every three years using the form OAR-7004. The address of the nearest Social Security office may be found in the telephone directory, under U.S. Government.

by CARLTON SMITH
Make your retirement home in Mexico? The idea obviously appeals to many, since an estimated 50,000 Americans have migrated south of the border, either as permanent residents or the so-called "snowbirds" who winter there.

Yet, an unusually candid book, just published by a long-time American resident, while cataloging the many advantages and delights of living in Mexico, warns that it may not be your dish of tea. It takes a certain type of person to enjoy living in a country that's "still a very foreign place," author Carl D. Ross observes, and his book should help in deciding whether you're such a person.

Mexico's principal attraction to the retiree, he says, is not the low cost of living but its climate and the easier, more relaxed way of life. There's a climate to suit any taste: cool, warm or hot — mountains, lake or tropical seashore.

Living costs in Mexico City and northern border areas are little lower than in the United States. The average rent paid by retired couples in Mexico City, Ross reports, is about $200 a month. It averages $150 in Guadalajara, the second largest city, where there's a large American colony. But in small towns in the interior, a "quite livable house" can be rented for $40 a month, and $150 will put you in near luxury.

A LIVE-IN maid gets $30 to $60 a month. The services of a day-woman or houseboy cost $2 to $3 a day.

One indication of living costs is the amount of assured income required of permanent residents. At present it's $240 a month for a single person, $80 additional for each dependent. This requirement of $320 per couple can be satisfied with proof of Social Security or pension benefits, or income from investments.

Another way to meet the requirement is to deposit enough to cover five years residency ($14,400 for the single retired) in a private or government Mexican bank. You receive your $240 a month and, currently, 7.9 per cent annual interest, net after tax, on the declining balance.

Better yet, for those with the capital, invest it in a "financiera," suggests Ross, who's headed an investment-counsel firm in Mexico for the past two decades. Banks that finance small business, the financieras currently pay 10.5 per cent net, on five-year deposits. With about $30,000 on deposit, you'd receive your $240 a month and still have your capital at the end of five years.

WITHOUT MEETING any income requirements, you can stay in Mexico for as long as 180 days on an easily-procured tourist card. (You can then leave and immediately re-enter on a new card.) Ross strongly advises preliminary testing of life in Mexico, on this temporary basis, before making long-range commitments.

By satisfying the income requirement you become an immigrant rentista, with some of the rights of Mexican citizenship — and after five years of this status you can be promoted to inmigrado, a permanent resident with nearly all rights of citizenship, without loss of U.S. rights.

Anyone who thinks retirement in Mexico might be appealing should find many questions answered in this $50-page book, "Learn How You Can Invest or Retire in Mexico." But there's one question it doesn't answer; there's no price shown on it.

Presumably one has to inquire of the publisher: Inversiones Alba S.A., Reforma 336, Mexico 6 D.F. As it says in the book, you find they're more relaxed about things in Mexico.

Travelers Find Taxes Vary

Summer sojourners vacationing around the country are discovering that when they packed their bags, they put in an item they may not have been aware of — state sales, cigarette and gasoline taxes, notes Commerce Clearing House (CCH).

In the case of cigarette and gasoline taxes, the state rates are on top of an 8-cent-a-pack federal cigarette tax and a 4-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline levy as well as similar levies, including sales taxes, imposed by hundreds of cities and hamlets across the nation.

FORTY-FIVE STATES and the District of Columbia levy general sales and use taxes with rates ranging from 2 per cent in Indiana and Oklahoma to 7 per cent in Connecticut.

While the rate increase pace has been slow so far this year, the prudent vacationer will beware of the local or special levies imposed in many locales.

On the state front, Connecticut reached the top by boosting its rate from 6.5 per cent, and Tennessee decided to extend its increased 3.5 per cent rate to next June 30 when it is slated to revert to 3 per cent.

CIGARETTE SMOKERS have long been favorite legislative targets, and 1972 proves no different, CCH said. So far this year, Idaho upped its tax per pack of twenty from 7 to 9 cents, Mississippi went from 9 to 11 cents, effective July 1, 1973, New Jersey leaps from 14 to 19 cents; New York upped its rate 3 cents to 15 cents and Oregon went from 4 to 9 cents per pack. Connecticut has the highest state rate in the nation at 21 cents a pack.

Smokers wishing to avoid high tax rate areas would do well to head for North Carolina with its 2 cent tax rate or Virginia with its 2.5 cent rate, CCH said.

IF THE VACATIONER spends much of his time motoring the nation's highways, he might do well to head for Texas where he'll find one of the lowest gasoline tax rates in the nation — 5 cents a gallon. The same held true for Missouri until August 13 when a new 7-cent-a-gallon rate became effective.

Also pepping up their petrol rate so far this year are Kentucky, Maryland and Virginia — from 7 to 9 cents a gallon; Idaho, 7 to 8.5 cents; New York, South Carolina and New Jersey, 7 to 8 cents; and Mississippi, 8 to 9 cents a gallon, effective July 1, 1973.

Connecticut and Maui County, Hawaii, still have the highest gasoline tax rate in the nation at 10 cents a gallon.

'Where Are Gym Facts?'

Yes, forty angry parents I am sorry there weren't a lot more arrived at Dist. 214 board meeting on Sept. 25 at 7:30 p.m. Note Time arrived (Your reporter was not present till much later.)

We sat quietly thru the budget discussions and other business before us on the agenda (We had an appointment to be heard.) Your reporter (Wandalyne Rice) has without a doubt not seen the conditions at Forest View that our young people and teachers are expected to live with — unsafe and unsanitary conditions, where portions of the roof are gone — broken windows still in the frames — water from frequent rainstorms since July 15 still sit in the gyms — no P.E. classes held inside of the school — girls having to find other places in the school to dress because they have lost their locker room completely — all remaining locker rooms flood with each new rainfall.

Our anger was that there were too many delays and the repairs that were supposed to be done were not getting done, not at the members of our Dist. board. Why? Some answers, is what we wanted from the board. Why? Didn't they know it was not being done? What was the board going to do to correct this situation?

After a lengthy explanation, a board member admitted that maybe there were too many delays. The board also admitted the contractor was not performing to the point of considering replacing them with someone who could get the repairs done. None of us can live on past performances, but your reporter is willing to do just that with this contractor.

Asst. Supt. Weber was aware, so he said that things were not going along well. He made no effort to let the rest of the board know about this till we let them know.

Supt. Gilbert at this point assured the parents he would personally look into this situation. We were pleased. We wanted action which he promised, before one of our young people is seriously injured, then it's too late.

Sure, forty upset parents get loud to get their feelings heard, after all we waited more than two months and we'll live with this a lot longer till it's done. We did not ask for frills, we are asking for a safe, clean, waterless school building.

We did not ask for help from parents of other schools in the district, we felt this was our problem — but believe me if any other school has a problem, we will be more than willing to take their problems to the board. That's what we have a board for, is it not?

As for the gym floor, your reporter said we did not care how much the board spent (that is stupid, we are taxpayers) she would have been there earlier, she would have found out that the gym building roof has leaked since construction of said building. The Board had had to replace two gym floors once before being cause of a storm five years ago. The roof of that building (common knowledge to all in the district but your reporter) is poorly constructed to save money. It has always leaked. We tried to convince the board to put in a gym floor that if your would reporter would have checked with us or Asst. Supt. Weber will actually cost less than the ones now used in our schools. Besides water leakage is not supposed to harm this type of floor so it would not have to be replaced if further water damage due to the leaky roof should occur again. So you see we were trying to save the taxpayers money, not spending more like she stated. All the other damage caused by rainfall since July 14 which is going to cost some money had something been done by now could have been prevented.

I truly believe no real action would have been done if we did not make the board aware of what was going on, some people tried, getting relatively no results.

I think it is time for your reporter to do some checking into her facts (which appears she had none) before she passes judgment on concerned parents instead of reporting what really occurred. I also think that we who read your paper daily deserve better reporting and an apology, many papers write how parents are not concerned about their young people and this is what we get for showing our concern to her without facts article.

Thanking you for hearing me out,

Mrs. M. K. Trousil
Arlington Heights

EDITOR'S NOTE: Miss Rice, the Herald's education writer, wrote a Wednesday "Education Today" column on the meeting. The Thursday news story was written by Tom Wellman.

Palatine's Flood Fighters Lauded

Frequently many of the good things that happen in a community go unnoticed. One such occurrence happened in Palatine last week and deserves public recognition.

A home in North Palanoid Park had considerable backup of raw sewage when the owners were away on vacation during the storm.

The family made several attempts to clean the basement but the problem was overwhelming. The situation was brought to my attention and I asked Mr. Richard Dawson of the Village Health Department to look into the matter.

Mr. Dawson promptly contacted Mr. Wayne Browning, a Palatine High School teacher and member of the Environmental Control Board, for some able bodied assistants.

Eleven young men and women from Palatine High School and came forward to help. After two and one-half hours, Mr. Browning and these fine young people completed their work.

Printing their names in the paper is not enough thanks for their extra effort and concern. The following Palatine High School students as well as Mr. Dawson and Mr. Browning are to be heartily thanked for helping someone in need:

Chris Betz, Charlene Weber, Dave Christensen, Steve Lyons, John Smith, Meda Johnson, Ken Krol, Judith Cross, Chris Conway, Stephanie Lyons and Dan Greenberg.

Thank you all very much for being so thoughtful.

Dist. 25's 'Ostrich' Board

Referring to Cindy Tew's report in the Arlington Heights Herald on discipline by teachers, although I am not or never have been affiliated with the teaching profession, but I am an avid reader and very interested in local affairs, attend meetings, etc., I strongly disagree with some of the information given by the reporter.

It is a case of trying to hush up some of the problems facing the schools (especially junior high schools) in this Dist. 25. Our board of education and the administration remind me of ostriches.

There is vandalism of teachers' cars, threats to the teachers, obscenity directed to them and one known knife threat. These are the kind of children who cannot be appealed to. Respect means nothing to them and never will; usually they are a product of a permissive and belligerent home.

A few weeks ago a priest of this area gave a sermon about just this kind of young people. He said, "It starts with permissive parents, carried on by a permissive school administration and some teachers and then goes on to a court ruled by a permissive judge."

Corporal punishment is all these young persons understand, but the school board has never defined or set guidelines on this issue and the article on "good teachers" proves John Fender did no more than many teachers and some assistant principals confess in that article. I agree with them, but why crucify Mr. Fender? The board ignored the good things about him and listened to quite a few untruths. This letter by no means reflects on Cindy Tew's reporting. She only reports what is told her.

While I'm at it, how come that stench from a certain Elk Grove Village plant is permeating our fair city again? It is almost constant, now when we have visitors away from this area they remark about the terrible odor, almost like the south side of Chicago.

It seems the village fathers complained about it a year or so ago, due to complaints from the citizens, but now all is silence in the administration despite the complaints pouring in and don't tell me they are not. How come?

Meyer, Hennessey: 'They Aren't Gods'

Rolling Meadows Officials Draw Reader's Blast

I've just read Herald's articles on Roland Meyer and John Hennessey and wish to express my comments on these two officials.

I don't consider a persuasive man, who's street wise, doesn't know the meaning of the word compromise unless he's one up on his opponent and who must always win, qualities to be admired in a mayor. What makes Meyer think what he decides to be right is right? No human is infallible and Meyer certainly is no god, much to his disappointment. He wants to be Caesar to all city employees — if they don't do as he decrees, they'll look for new jobs. Personally, I like to know the men and crews staffed by Rolling Meadows are well-trained and dedicated to their jobs, not hired because they kiss the city fathers' hands. Meyer, it does matter how you play the game. You sound typical of a power-conscious dictator, "Do as I say or off with your head." You're right; compromise is not in your vocabulary.

Of course the residents of Rolling Meadows have been provided with many advantages, but any other mayor would

My Favorite Melody

Displeased With 'City Painters'

You know, it was funny to see what I am about to tell.

In the morning hours on Sept. 27, my neighbor and I were in my front living room looking out of the window.

Suddenly the city's brand new fire ambulance pulled up in front of my home, two firemen got out of the passenger compartment, went to the rear of the ambulance and took two open cans of silver paint and two brushes and proceeded to paint the extinguisher near my home. It took only a few minutes, but that's not my gripe.

I wonder why the firemen had to use such an expensive and very "on the call" vehicle to transfer paint in open cans to different areas of the city to paint the extinguisher.

I sure feel sorry for anyone who had to use this unit as an ambulance yesterday, if any.

They got a ride in a fume-filled ambulance with attendants with paint-spotted hands. A real treat to look forward to if you or I ever need this emergency unit for ourselves or our children, heaven forbid.

It seems to me that our mayor has just lost a few more supporters as he has been losing since this washed-out police problem.

All I can say is that self-called "ruler" is slipping and I will never use his fire department ambulance for myself or my children.

Local Archie Bunkers Hit

I have been reading with great interest all the "Letters to the Editors" lately, not just in the local papers but also the large Chicago papers. It seems everyone is appalled at the conduct and appearance of the younger generation. They have no respect for their elders, other people's property and their appearance. They use foul language and they don't seem to want to accept the standards that we hold so near and dear, such as marriage, our religion, holding down a steady job, etc.

As a parent of youngsters, I realize everything that is said about them is true to some extent. But somehow I have faith in the young people of today. I think they will outgrow some of this "wildness" and possibly make a better world than we of the older generation are doing. I feel we shouldn't criticize the younger generation until we do something about ourselves. No wonder the youngsters don't want to follow our ways. Most of us of the older generation (anyone around 35 years old and older) are pretty good hypocrites. We say one thing but we actually live another way. Unfortunately, there are too many Archie Bunkers in our midst. It isn't our young people or even the communists that are tearing us down. It is the Archie Bunkers — and his female counterpart — Annie Bunker — that is tearing us down from within.

If you live in a neighborhood where there are a lot of Archie and Annie Bunkers, you have a very unhappy and unfriendly neighborhood. There is a lot of hostility, hypercriticisms and arguments. You see, Archie is always right, and you are always wrong. If you have the misfortune to have a confrontation with this person, you will find that he approaches in a blustering rage. If you are a rather shy person that doesn't like to fight and argue, you will be completely taken aback by this person's belligerency. There is no chance to talk out your problems in a calm, reasonable fashion. If you bring up points or questions that Archie finds embarrassing, he starts getting nasty, insulting and he threatens you. He twists, turns and misunderstands everything you say. If your Archie or Annie is also your neighborhood gossip — their twisted version of the confrontation will make the rounds of the neighborhood. If other people take the time to find out the whole story, there would be no damage, but it seems nobody cares to find out the truth. When people turn their backs on truth and justice, we have tyranny. Children raised in a neighborhood like this have a rough time. According to Archie — everybody else's child is something between Jack the Ripper and the Boston Strangler. Archie is the only person raising his child right — his child is the only one that doesn't misbehave. He will tell you that he knows his child is no angel, but he doesn't really believe it.

If we are to undo all the damage that has been done and try to make things right, we are going to have to do something about the many Archie and Annie Bunkers before they destroy us. I realize that most of them are decent people, they hold down steady jobs, pay their taxes, raise their families, go to church, etc., etc., but the seeds of hate that these people sow is making us crumble from within. We can't survive if we hate each other. First we must try and understand the Bunkers — why they are the way they are. Personally I think they are this way because our life is changing so much these days. Because the Bunkers are so close-minded they can't make an adjustment so they are being left behind. They feel insecure and threatened. So our job is to open up the minds of the Bunkers and make them realize that all change isn't bad.

They must learn to accept everyone, and that all American citizens have the right to Justice, Freedom and Respect and Equality, and not just the people he considers worthy. All of us must learn to communicate — and the only way we can do that is by listening to what the other person says and realize that maybe he can be right too. Archie must realize he isn't always right, that to get along with other people he must learn to respect them and listen to them.

So, elders, if we expect the younger generation to change — we will have to change for the better too. Children are influenced just as much, if not more, by what happens outside of their home, as what happens inside. So that means all of us older people, even those without children, can influence — for good or for bad.

Dist. 96 Board Blasted

The perils and pitfalls of "big government" now make their ugly appearance in our Dist. 96 school board. In their selection of a person to fill the seat vacated by Mr. Edmonds, the selection committee and then the Board met in secret session. When queried at last Monday night's meeting about the method of making their selection, those who answered gave vague, evasive answers. When pressed for more details, they evoked "executive privilege."

"Executive privilege," to me, is a euphemism for "we'll do as we damn well please, and let the public be damned." In the case of the District 96 School Board it smacks of petty tyranny. This is no exercise in semantics; nor is it a high school fraternity initiation. We are dealing with people who control the process whereby our children are educated. We have a right, as parents, to know how a person is selected by the board to fill a seat vacated by a member elected by the people to fill that seat.

We are led to believe that, without interviewing any of the candidates, the committee was able to determine who was best qualified. Attendance at previous Board meetings and a genuine and active interest in Dist. 96 were of no consequence in this appointment. From what was said at Monday's meeting, the only requirements possessed by the new board member are his previous experience as a teacher and his desire to be on the board. What, then, makes the other, rejected, candidates less desirable?

We must all work together towards the goal of better education for all of our children. A good beginning might be in the open and above-board selection of all school board members.

Watergate Editorial: 'Right To The Point'

I just finished reading your editorial, "Let's Resolve Watergate Case." Congratulations. You went right to the central question when you ask, "Who shall police the policemen?"

An investigation of burglary and wiretapping by members of the Committee to Reelect the President directed by Attorney General Richard Kleindienst is inherently absurd. It is like hiring John Dillinger as a bank guard. Kleindienst's confirmation was held up for months because of his role in the ITT payoff for a favorable anti-trust ruling.

I was pleased that you referred to the break-in at the Watergate a "case" rather than calling it a "caper." Burglary and wiretapping are crimes. This was not some sort of college prank. Far from being "just politics," the Watergate Case and its handling by the Justice Department raise serious questions about the integrity of the government. Everyone, Republicans, Democrats and independents should demand an impartial investigation be made now.

This letter is in response to a statement made by Arlene Cayer in her letter of Sept. 19. I refer to her use of the words "its (his/ hers)" when referring to the fetus. For her benefit and for the benefit of all the misinformed persons who continue to believe that a fetus is merely an "it," a piece of tissue comparable to a cancerous growth, a parasite, a figment of overly moral imaginations, I would like to make this statement of fact, not personal opinion: the "child in utero" is a very definite he or she from the moment of conception.

As a registered nurse, I know that hundreds of babies are being nonchalantly disposed of every day and it breaks my heart. This is false and misleading statements about the poor defenseless fetus disturb me so. Statements such as these help me to understand why there is much widespread support of abortion-on-demand. Most persons don't realize what really is done when an abortion is performed, or is it that they don't want to know?

did you talk to? Sure you're cleaning the city garage, what else would a janitor do? You don't know enough to fill one of McFeggan's shoes. And any supervisor who uses physical force on his crew to get a job done has only setting a "He-Man" impression on his mind. The Public Works Department is not a place to acquire glory, it's an important department serving area residents in many vital ways. It deserves more than an expulsive, janitor to run it.

Wake up, residents of Rolling Meadows, do something to improve present administration. Get Meyer and his forces out when election time rolls around. Power is a destructive force in the wrong person. Question how totally committed Meyer actually is to his residents and his city — or his personal achievements.

We need constructive minds who are principally concerned with the people, not their own fame and glory, to govern, not rule or dictate, our city of Rolling Meadows.

The Suburban Poor

The Biggest Problem They Face: Housing

(This is the second in a four-part series about an invisible minority in the suburbs, the poor. Names are fictitious, but the cases cited are true.)

by GENIE CAMPBELL

The Browns are temporarily left homeless every time it rains. Their dirt floor basement apartment intermittently gets flooded out. For this, they pay $100 a month in rent.

Under the law they have the right to prosecute their landlord for refusing to make repairs. But the Browns are afraid. They realize it would result in an eviction notice and the Browns have nowhere else to go.

A young husband out of work and his pregnant wife must live in their broken down car for four days before they find shelter elsewhere.

Three families reside in a garage that has been subdivided into three apartments. Indoor plumbing? That's a joke.

In the northwest suburbs housing is decidedly the largest problem the poor must confront.

In November of 1969, three children lost their lives when the shack in which they were residing burned to the ground. Embarrassing to the public, the tragic incident pointed out a widespread neglect of housing needs for low and moderate income families residing in the northwest suburban area.

ACTION WAS quickly taken. The eyesores disappeared when similar shacks were torn down to prevent other such fatalities from occurring. Yet the housing shortage only magnified itself. Shelter for persons once residing in the shacks was then completely gone.

A suggestion to bring in mobile homes to shelter families left homeless struck fear in many of the well-to-do residents who in all good faith said, "I'm all for helping these people, but I don't want trailers in my part of town."

Today most of the shacks are gone. Yet largely inadequate living conditions still exist.

Other plans for low cost housing developments have met with the same negative attitudes expressed when the first trailer park was proposed.

"When substandard housing is found, the solution is to burn it down without seeking a substitute. The only other direction the poor can take is to spend over half of their income on rent," said Karen Stanley, former director of the Northwest Opportunity Center and now task force director on Spanish-speaking affairs for the Cook County branch of OEO (Office of Economic Opportunity.)

JEANNIE CHRISTOPHER, housing

counselor for Northwest Opportunity Center, disclosed that within the year she has been employed by the agency, she has handled at least six emergencies where an eviction notice was pending and the family had absolutely no place to go.

"The closest thing we have to low income housing right now is the older homes," said Miss Christopher. "But they are also the first to go and are rapidly being torn down."

Currently Miss Christopher has on file 217 housing applications with no answers for any of the families.

"They know themselves it's futile," she said. "If they have more than two children they are hard to place. What can I tell a man who is taking home $80 a week and has four children?"

The Romeros reside in a three-bedroom home in Des Plaines for which they pay $180 monthly. They searched a long time to find something both adequate and within their means. Juan Romero now works in construction. While still a seasonal job, it pays a great deal more than he earned while employed by a nursery.

THE ROMEROS have six children. Yet the house in Des Plaines is also home for Mrs. Romero's sister, her husband and two infants who recently moved here from Mexico. They are unable to find a place of their own they can afford. Beds have been set up in the dining room to accommodate the overflow of people.

"Overcrowding is not so much a part of the culture of the Mexican Americans as being able to pay the rent," said Jeannie Christopher. "Sometimes as many as three to four families must double up."

There are 19 children and three sets of parents living together in one three-bedroom home in Arlington Heights.

Yet even more discouraging, many of the homes the chicanos can afford are refused to them.

"The house is available until they apply," continued Miss Christopher. "Then they are told it has already been rented. Or sometimes a real estate agency will say they can't find the keys."

BUYING A HOME is next to impossible for the poor who sometimes cannot even scrape enough money together at one time for a rental deposit. They turn to motels which offer weekly rates.

One such place in the area rents a living and dining area, one small kitchenette (no stove) and a small bedroom for $35 a week.

In the eight years that the Olsons have resided in the area, they have been forced to move a number of times. With nine children, aged 2 to 16, it has been exceedingly difficult to find a house both large and cheap enough. Most recently they moved because the home in which they had been living was torn down.

They are happy with their new house. The Olsons pay $250 monthly — too expensive for their income — but they offset the total cost by renting out the upstairs to a young couple.

There is no guarantee that their present home won't also be torn down since it is old and in an area that is being rezoned for business. But the landlord, an exception to the rule, maintains the house and has promised to find the Olsons a new place to live if he does decide to sell out.

EVEN BASEMENT apartments without running water sometimes rent for as much as $150 monthly in the suburbs.

The poor, particularly the chicanos who, on top of all their other problems, are often shackled with a language barrier, seldom complain.

There just aren't enough alternatives. Substandard housing, no matter how appalling, at least means a roof over their heads. For many, the poor living conditions are still better than what they have been used to in the past.

Yet with rents in the area continuing to increase, the overall picture becomes even more discouraging.

In working with those who have housing problems, Jeannie Christopher advises the families of their legal rights. Many of the eviction notices are unwarranted and could be fought in court.

"BUT THEY ARE frightened and would rather run," said Miss Christopher. To alter this reaction she has helped to organize PAL (People Action League), a group of poor persons who through numbers can have more leverage in dealing with some of their problems.

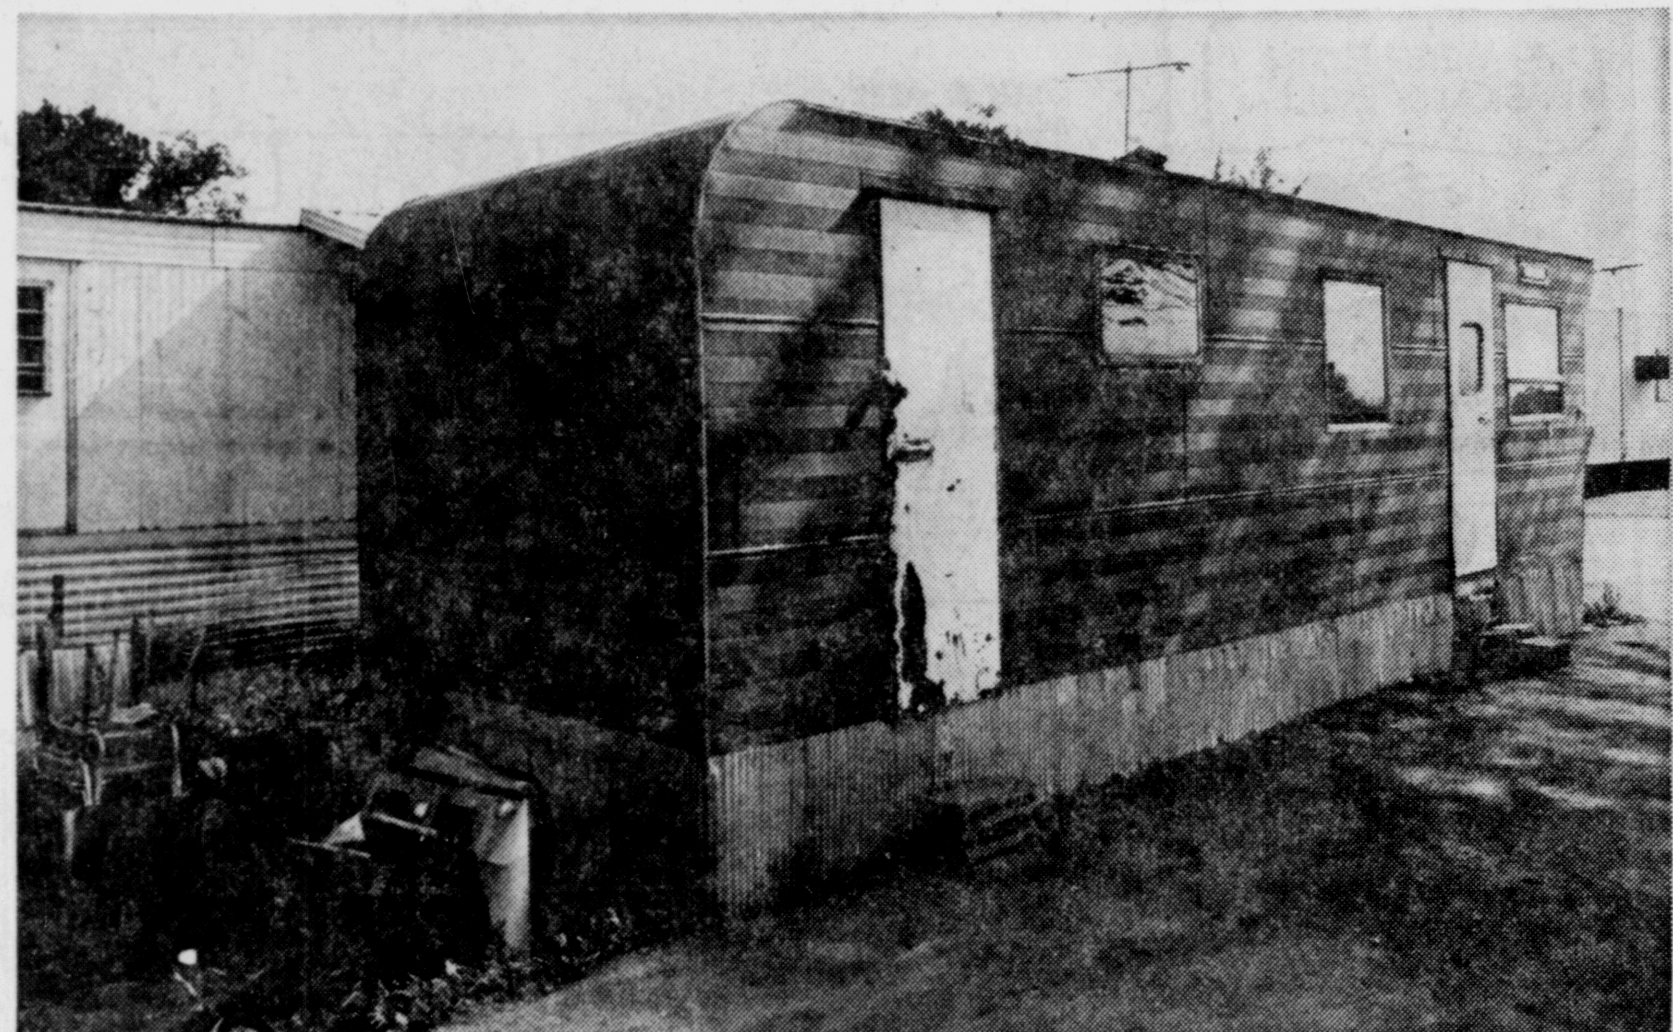

For low income families, the subject of low cost housing has become just empty promises.

"The poor have a very pessimistic attitude when low income housing is brought up," said Miss Christopher. "When they keep getting pushed down, it's very difficult to bounce back."

"And the chicanos have lost faith that they would even be accommodated if low income housing were built," added Karen Stanley. "Other Chicago minority groups are organized. The blacks don't get. They demand. But the chicanos, at least the ones residing in this area, feel the rest of society looking down on them."

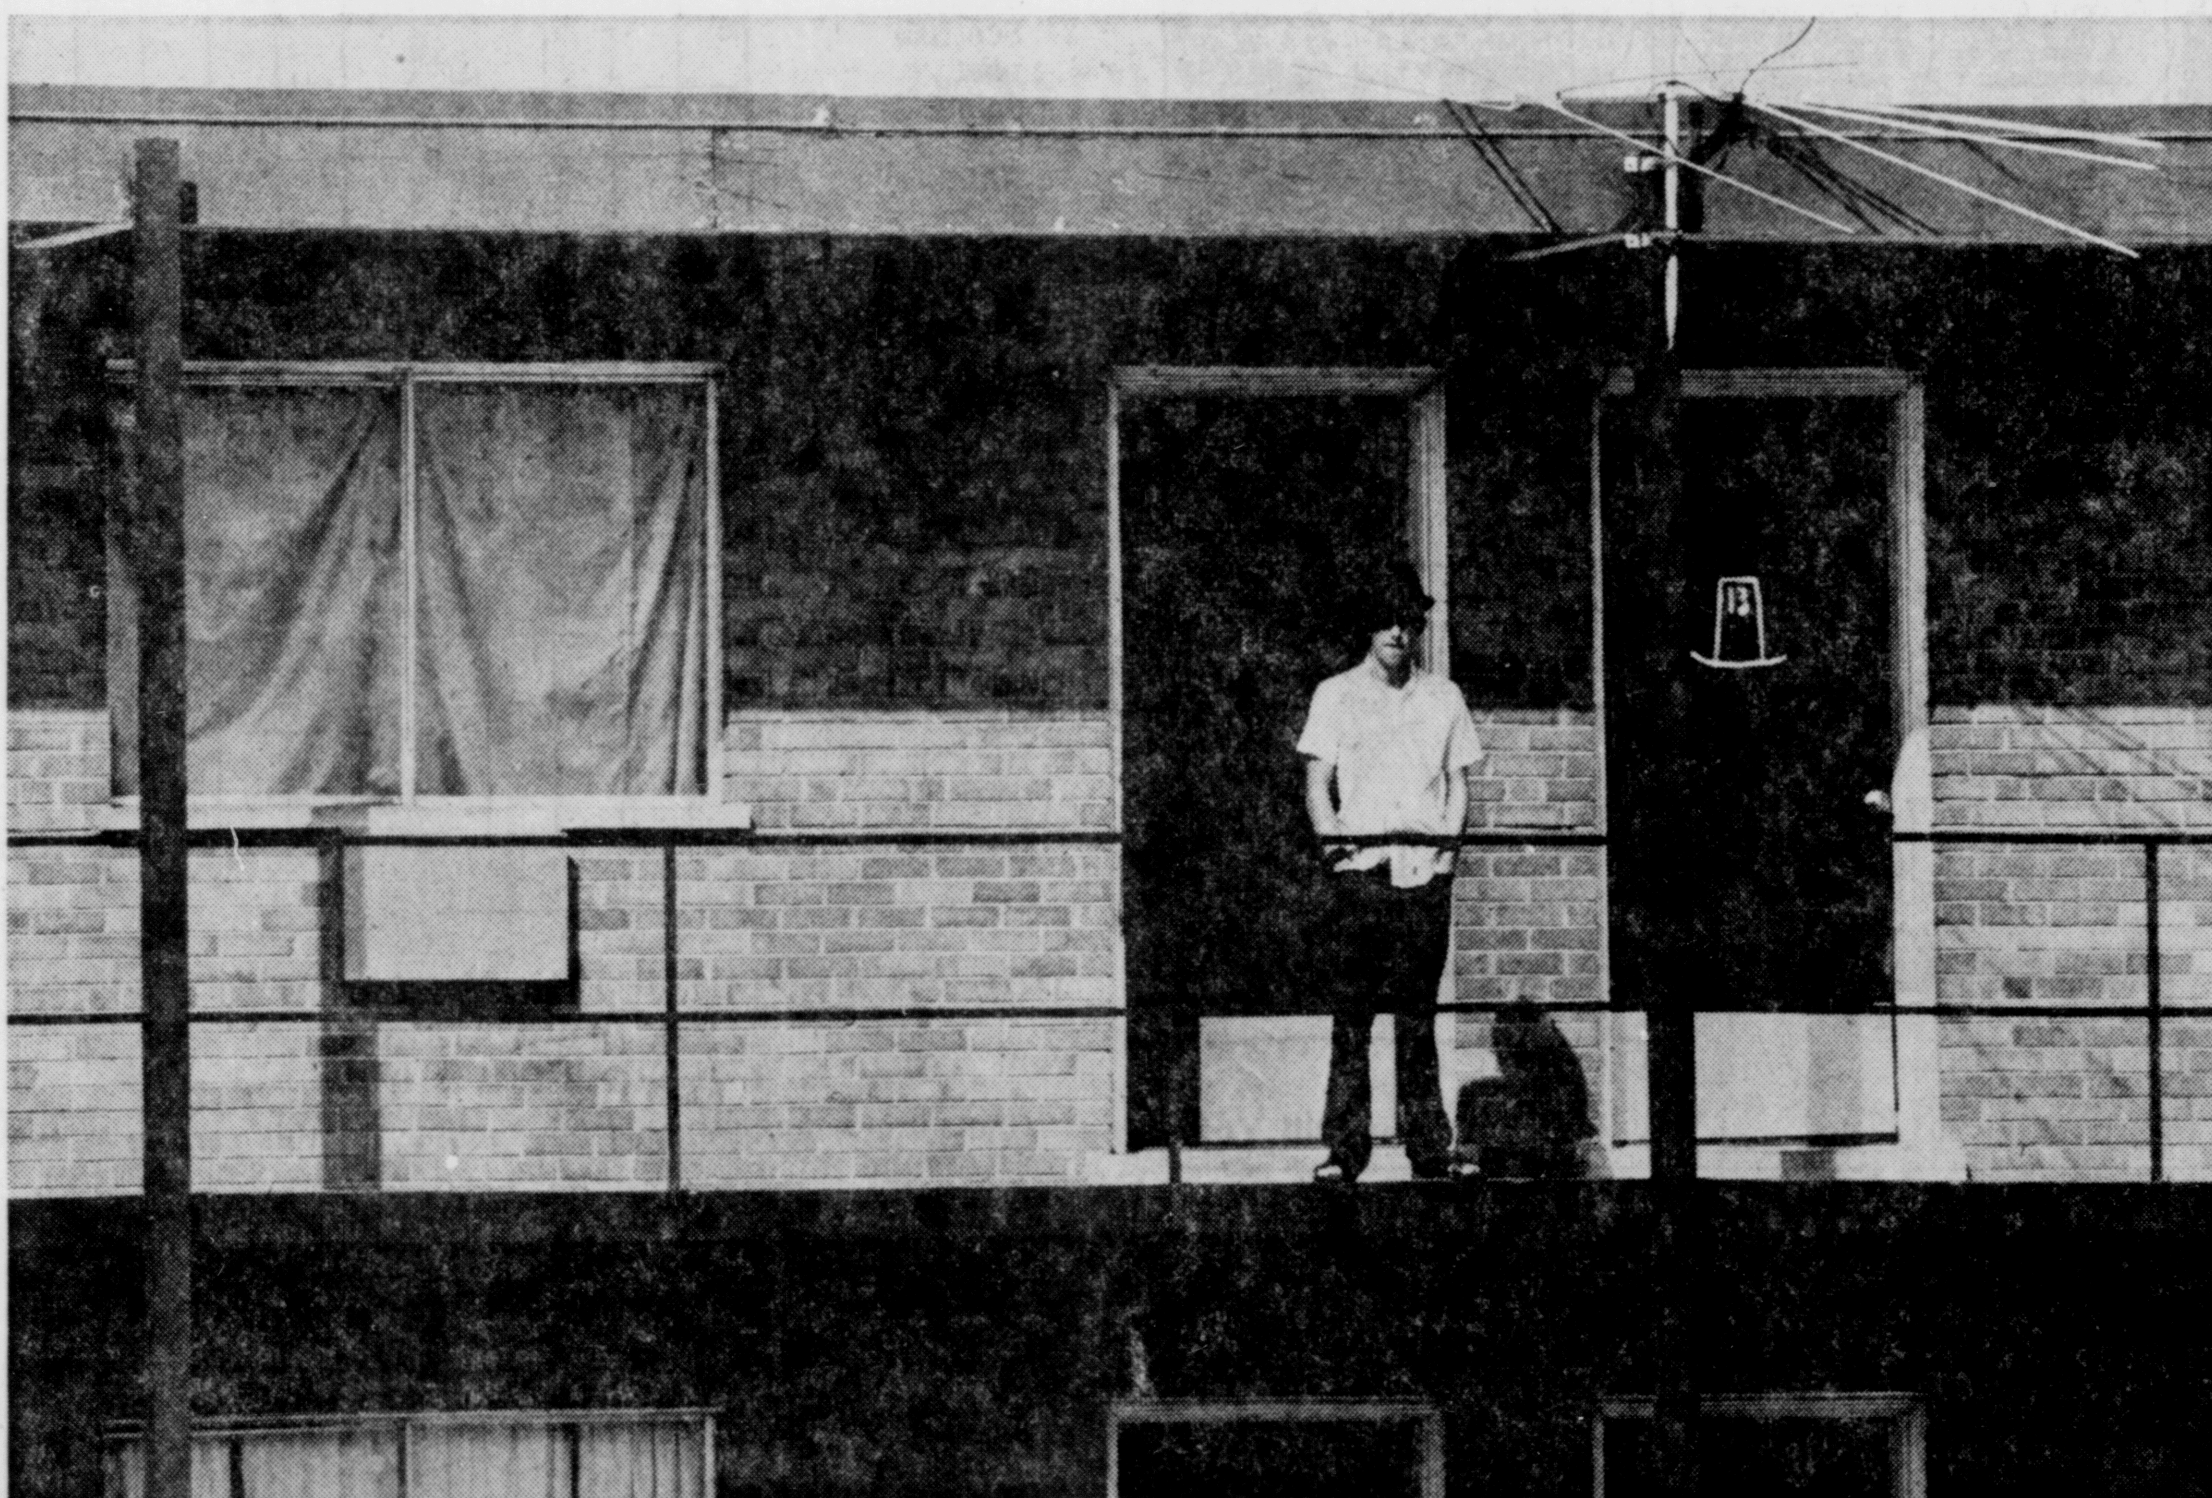

THREE ELK GROVE children lost their lives in 1969 when the shack in which they were residing burned down. Other such substandard dwellings, housing primarily migrant workers, were torn down so the tragedy would not be repeated. However, no concrete steps have yet been taken to find alternate low income housing for the poor of suburbia.

OLD TRAILERS VACATED by their original owners are shelter low income families encountered anger from residents who feared property values on their homes would go down. Plans once introduced to bring in mobile homes to

Suburban Living
ESPECIALLY FOR THE FAMILY

THOSE OF SUBURBIA'S indigent population who are unable to find an apartment within their means may resort to apartment motels where rooms may be rented by the week. This alleviates scraping together a rental deposit. Yet sometimes the facilities lack kitchens and the weekly rates often surpass rents charged for some apartments

The Home Line

by Dorothy Ritz

Dear Dorothy: My mother-in-law and I were discussing her imminent move to an apartment and in the course of conversation got around to what to do with a huge cabinet full of spices had herbs, some of which had never been opened. Two which we were curious about were cumin and chervil. Do you know what they're used for? Also, do you have a list of your favorite herbs and spices? — Diane Scharfeld.

Cumin comes from the parsley family and the seed looks and tastes something like caraway seed. Ground, it is used in chili powder, curry powder and such. Chervil has a delicate parsleylike flavor and comes from the carrot family. While I love to experiment with new recipes, I've never been one to try all the lovely spices and herbs the true gourmet uses. The things I use constantly include caraway seed, chili powder, curry, garlic, shallots, thyme, marjoram, nutmeg, peppercorns, cloves, allspice, dill, bay leaf, oregano, paprika and ginger. There are others, of course, but you asked for the favorites.

Dear Dorothy: Due to some quirk in the weather, the ivy on the front bricks of our home died and we have no idea how to get rid of the brown vines and roots that still cling to the brick. Do you have any suggestions? —A. R.

Either rub it with another brick or a stiff wire brush.

Dear Dorothy: This summer I was particularly troubled with small black ants on the kitchen counter. A friend told me of an old German remedy: Take equal parts of sugar and active dry yeast and mix them. Place the mixture on a small piece of paper where you have seen the ants frequent. I noticed that after the ants ate the mixture they all disappeared — and never came back. —Miss Nina Alice Bowmer.

Need Used Books For Library Sale

Children's books, textbooks, fiction and non-fiction in hard cover or paperback are needed for the used book sales at Mount Prospect Public Library sponsored by the Mount Prospect Junior Woman's Club. A sale will be Saturday, Nov. 18, according to Mrs. David Kennard, chairman.

"Books may be brought to the main desk of the library and all donations will be appreciated," said Mrs. Kennard.

All proceeds will go to the library. Last year's proceeds of two sales, one in November and another in April, were more than $600.

Chapel Wedding For Ann Hesness

The chapel in the Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, Iowa, was the setting for the Sept. 2 marriage of Ann Kirstine Hesness and James Everett Carlson. The couple met while students at St. Olaf College in Minnesota, and James is now a student at Wartburg Theological Seminary.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hesness, Mount Prospect, Ann is a '67 graduate of Mount Prospect High School and a '71 graduate of St. Olaf, Northfield, Minn., also a '71 graduate of St. Olaf, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Carlson, Aurora, Colo.

The 2 p.m. service was both candlelight and double ring, and was followed by a reception for 100 in the refectory of the seminary.

Janet L. Hesness, sister of Ann, St. Paul, Minn., was the bride's only attendant. Attending the groom were Curt Lenz, Kasson, Minn., as best man, and the bride's brother Keith, Mount Prospect, and Mark E. Swiggum, Northfield, Minn., ushers.

The newlyweds are making their home at 333 Wartburg Place, Dubuque.

Foil Book Covers

A new decorator touch: cover books with aluminum foil. This is not all the books in a bookstore! Just "foil" those books kept in display places — on a coffee table, a little collection of books on shelves by the fireplace, shelves that hold other things such as metal trays, silver bowls, glass objects and semi-precious to precious things. ARLINGTON HEIGHTS JUNIORS

"How to Enjoy Eating Without Committing Suicide," will be reviewed by its author, Charles Ewart, at the Arlington Heights Junior Women's Club meeting at 8 tonight at Pioneer Park.

Mr. Ewart, a resident of Arlington Heights, has been engaged in marketing and advertising of foods for 20 years. He will stress inadequate nutrients in prepared baby foods, the Thinking Woman's Diet and dangers of high cholesterol diets.

Thirty-two new members will be installed into the club in a candlelight ceremony conducted by Mrs. Carl Kramer, president, and Mrs. Robert O'Hare, membership chairman.

A Scotch Doubles Bowling Party for Arlington Juniors and their husbands has been set for Saturday, Oct. 21, at Beverly Lanes, following get acquainted parties at committee members' homes. Mrs. James Ledinsky, chairman, and her "Fun Night" committee have planned this evening to welcome new members and their husbands.

WHEELING-BUFFALO GROVE LA LECHE

"Advantages of Breastfeeding to Mother and Baby," is the topic for tonight's meeting of Buffalo Grove-Wheeling La Leche League group. This session, the first in a four-part series based on the "Womanly Art of Breastfeeding," will be held in the home of Mrs. Walter McGuire, 635 St. Mary's Parkway, Buffalo Grove, at 8:30.

Mrs. Julius J. Fejes will open the discussion. Also available at the meetings is loan library of books on nursing, mothering, child care, childbirth and nutrition. Newlyweds At Home In Salem, Va.

Nancy Margaret Carlisle and her bridegroom of Sept. 23 Kenneth Baird Hadley, are making their first home in Salem, Va., where Nancy is "desperately" searching for a job in social work. Nancy was graduated with a B.A. degree from Roanoke College last May.

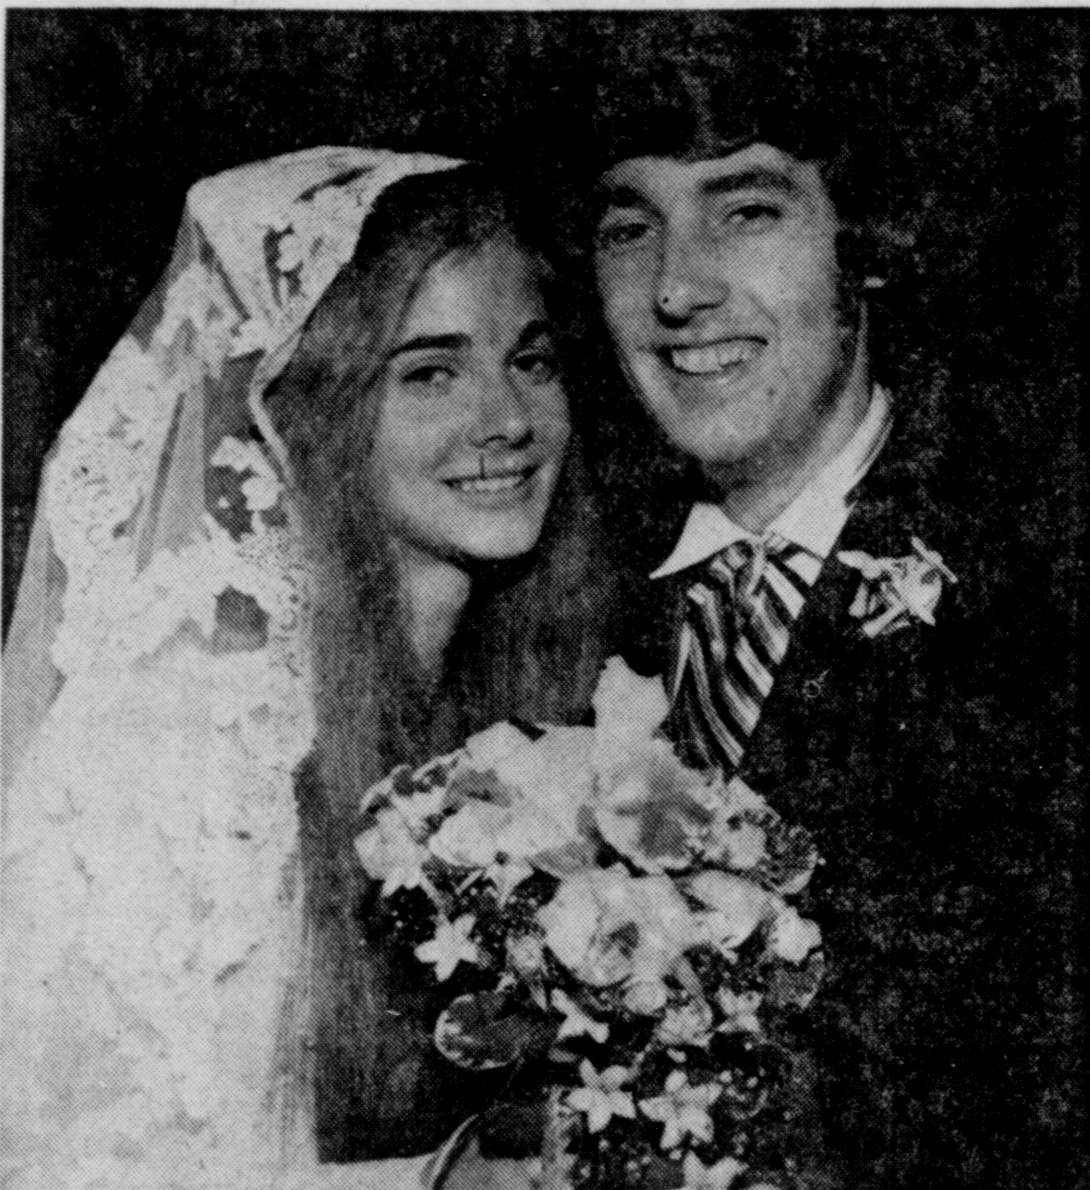

Her bridegroom attended Peabody College and the University of Tennessee and received his B.S. degree in social science from Middle Tennessee State University. This fall he began his fourth year as an instructor at Roanoke College.

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oram, 1542 Durham Drive, Palatine, and Ken is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson Hadley, Nashville, Tenn.

The 4 p.m., double ring, candlelight service was held in Immanuel Lutheran Church, Palatine, with Nancy wearing an ivory silk organza and English net gown heavily embroidered in beaded pearls. The Empire bodice was fashioned with scooped neckline, long, fitted sleeves with cape shoulder and an A-line skirt with court-length train. A matching mantilla held her floor-length veil, and she carried a cascade of stephanotis, white roses and ivy with a white orchid.

SARAH JANE Franklin, Falls Church, Va., was Nancy's maid of honor, and her bridesmaids were her sister-in-law, Mrs. Thomas Carlisle, Downers Grove, and Patricia Kay Whalen, Chardon, Ohio. They wore Empire gowns of purple taffeta trimmed in Venice lace. Scooped necklines, puffed sleeves and deep flounced skirts were features of the gowns. They carried nosegays of pink and lavender flowers.

John Worley, Murphreesboro, Tenn., was the groom's best man, and ushers

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Hadley were Jon Hayden, Lansing, Mich., and the bride's brother, Thomas J. Carlisle, Downers Grove.

A reception for 65 guests was held at the Inverness Golf Club. Since the day following their wedding Nancy and Ken have been at home at 319 Union St., Union Arms, Salem.

Sharon Germaine Becomes Bride Of John Birk Sept. 16

Sharon Ann Germaine and John I. Birk met while both were employed in the construction department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. in Arlington Heights, and now they're building a life as Mr. and Mrs.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Germaine, 715 Eastman Drive, Mount Prospect, Sharon is a '69 graduate of Wheeling High School. John, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Birk, Carlisle, Ill., is a '64 graduate of Carlisle High. He is now with Illinois Bell, Barrington, and the newlyweds are making their home in a Buffalo Grove apartment.

An Empire gown with cathedral train was Sharon's choice in wedding gown. Made of ivory organza, the gown was trimmed in Venice lace and fashioned with a high neckline, long sleeves and a deep ruffle at the hemline. A Camelot headpiece of the same lace held her fingertip veil, and she carried white roses, ivory baby's breath and gold star flowers.

SHARON'S SISTERS, Diane and Debra Germaine, Mount Prospect, were bridesmaids, and Barbara Schoephoester, Buffalo Grove, was maid of honor. The girls wore brown, gold and white flowered gowns of voile trimmed in white. They carried white carnations, white daisies and gold star flowers with small brown bows.

Stuart Mayfield, Carlisle, was best man, and James Piccolo, Rolling Meadows, and Ralph Hart, Palatine, were ushers.

The double ring wedding took place Sept. 16 in St. Emily's Church, Mount Prospect, with a reception for 150 at the Camelot Restaurant, Des Plaines. Sharon and her bridegroom honeymooned for a week at Lake Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. John I. Birk

WE PUT IT TOGETHER, SO YOU CAN TAKE IT APART.

It's a puzzle, this life we lead. So many things going on. So many events near and far which make a difference in the way we live — or the way we would like to live.

And there are so many voices which call to us. Extra! Read all about it! Stand by for a special announcement!

The strident voices of a world in turmoil surround us. And yet, there are places where reason and certainty can be found. Good newspapers are such a place. Newspapers which talk instead of scream, newspapers which offer quiet reporting instead of invective.

We have tried to make the Herald such a newspaper. We believe in the tenets of journalism and in community service.

We believe puzzles are made to be put together.
